Ottawa Cuts Back On Budget

$10 Billion Estimate
Within Sharp Forecast

OTTAWA (CP) — The government handed Parliament today an initial spending bill for the new fiscal year totalling a record $11,865,732,032, including old age security payments.

The figure included $10,284,732,032 in the budgetary spending plans of government departments and agencies, an increase of 3.6 per cent over the $9,927,698,631 in the current fiscal year ending March 31.

This increase is sharply smaller than the 12.9 per cent growth of federal budgetary spending in 1967-68 over the year previous.

Tabling the new spending estimates for 1968-69 in the Commons, Treasury Board President Benson said they are in keeping with Finance Minister Sharp's pledge last November to keep total expenditures in the new year to $10,300,000,000 or 4.5 per cent more than in 1967-68.

While supplementary spending appropriations may bring the maximum spending authority as the year progresses to $10,500,000,000, there is likely to be $200,000,000 of unused appropriations at the end of the year, Mr. Benson said.

In addition to the $1,284,732,032 in basic budgetary estimates for 1968-69, old age security payments are expected to rise to $1,581,000,000 from $1,432,000,000. These are not counted as budgetary expenditures by the government since they are paid out of a separate fund, into which go special income, corporation, and sales taxes.

This year's budgetary and old age security estimates totalled $11,359,698,631.

BIG CUT

Also in addition to the basic estimates are the government's cash requirements for loans and investments in Crown corporations and government agencies, which the government expects to be repaid to the treasury in later years. These are being severely cut in the new year to $484,900,000 from $645,105,608.

Presenting the spending estimates is the first part of the budget-making process. Finance Minister Sharp this spring will table a regular taxing budget, showing how he intends to cover the spending bill.

Mr. Sharp said Nov. 10 that expenditures would be held in 1968-69 to $10,300,000,000, apart from whatever is needed to write off Expo 67 deficits and meet the federal government's share of introducing medical care insurance on July 1, 1968.

General administration and operation of the government calls for $3,952,000 in the new estimates, compared with $3,677,600,000 this year.

Federal government spending on new buildings, works and equipment is being cut to $712,300,000 from $783,200,000. But payment of grants, subsidies and other payments will rise to $5,620,200,000 from $5,365,200,000, 305,200,000.

The latter includes $1,406,849,200 for interest on the public debt and expenses of issuing new loans, an increase of $132,942,800 from this year. It is the largest single item of increase in the new estimates.

BONAVENTURE BOMB PROBE

HALIFAX (CP) — Divers searched the bottom of the Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure for explosives early Saturday after the Federal Bureau of Investigation in San Juan, Puerto Rico, received an anonymous phone call that a bomb had been placed aboard a warship. No bomb was found.

SMOKE COVERS SAIGON as buildings continue to smoulder following Viet Cong raid on residential area last week. New outbreak of fighting was reported on outskirts of the city over weekend.

Marines Make New Bid To Drive Reds From Hue

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese warplanes bombed and strafed North Vietnamese forces holding out in Hue's citadel today after U.S. marine reinforcements were sent into the walled fortress for the first time in the two-week battle.

The combined U.S.-South Vietnamese assaults were part of an all-out effort to drive the North Vietnamese regulars and Viet Cong guerrillas from areas they have held since Jan. 31. The Communists hold the Citadel's southeast corner.

Two companies of marines—about 300 to 400 men—entered the citadel from landing craft sent up the Perfume River Sunday and another two companies of marines were taken to the citadel's northern wall by assault boats today.

The marines have already recaptured the southern part of Hue in a series of street battles. South Vietnamese troops pushed North Vietnamese troops into one corner of the citadel but had been unable to drive them out.

The U.S. marine force in Hue was about 1,000 men. AP correspondent George McArthur reported from Hue that the marines were meeting only occasional sniper fire in the southern part of the city 400 miles north of Saigon.

Lt. Col. Phan Van Khoa, province chief, mayor of Hue and district military commander, said Communist troops in Hue executed 300 civilians Friday and buried them in a mass grave south of the city. He said the grave was in an area not yet reached by combined U.S.-South Vietnamese forces, but that his reports of the executions were precise and unquestionable.

The victims were province officials, technicians, policemen and others who long had been marked for death by the Viet Cong, he said.

A South Vietnamese civilian reported 125 to 150 Roman Catholics being led from the city as captives Saturday.

Fighting also continued in Saigon and its suburbs for the 13th day. Communiques and field reports said U.S. and South Vietnamese infantrymen, helicopter gunships and fighter-bombers killed 223 Viet Cong in running battles.

AP photographer Joe Holloway reported that U.S. infantrymen, who had moved into Saigon Friday to speed the mop-up operation, found remnants of a Viet Cong battalion hiding out behind grave mounds in two small cemeteries and near three houses surrounded by rice paddies.

'Must Solve Rift' Or Park Off to U.S.

SEOUL — South Korean President Chung Hee Park is reported considering a trip to see President Johnson if U.S. presidential envoy Cyrus Vance doesn't resolve the U.S.-South Korean rift over South Korean security.

Vance and Park met for the first time today. Vance's mission is to quiet South Korean fears that the United States is tending toward appeasement in the Pueblo incident and neglecting the increased infiltration of armed North Koreans into the South.

Park and Vance met for three hours today. The U.S. embassy said the talks included a "free, friendly and candid exchange of views," while a spokesman for Park said the meeting was held in a "sincere atmosphere."

Neither side would say whether any progress was made.

In a move welcome to the South Koreans, the U.S. officers who head the United Nations command in Korea asked for a meeting with North Korea to air claims of North Korean truce violations "in and through the demilitarized zone."

WEDNESDAY MEETING

It was indicated that the meeting will be held Wednesday.

A U.S. military spokesman said four North Koreans crossed into South Korea around midnight Sunday, but U.S. sentries repelled them in a brief clash.

No casualties were reported.

The U.S. and North Korea have held five secret meetings since the North Koreans seized the U.S. intelligence-gathering ship Pueblo Jan. 23.

No official reports have come out of the talks, but reliable South Korean sources said they believed three injured Pueblo crew members and the body of one sailor who died would be returned soon.

Alex Macdonald (NDP-Vancouver East) brought the land development to attention by suggesting in the legislature there had been improprieties in granting of highway access to the Del Cielo company.

Gagliardi's son, Bill, has admitted he has an office in the Del Cielo building but has claimed he has nothing to do with the company.

INDIA FEARS FAITH RIOTS

NEW DELHI (AP) — Police in New Delhi and other Indian cities went on the alert today to meet possible Hindu-Muslim violence following the mysterious death of the president of a right-wing Hindu party.

The body of D. D. Upadhyaya, president of the Jan Sangh party since its founding in 1952, was found Sunday on a railway platform at Moghul sarai, in Uttar Pradesh state, about 200 miles southeast of New Delhi.

Peace Bid Response 'Friendly'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union publicly urged on the Vietnamese Communists to new victories today while Kremlin leaders secretly discussed peace prospects with United Nations Secretary-General U Thant.

After his talks, Thant departed for London to confer with Prime Minister Wilson. Thant had come to Moscow from India where he met with Prime Minister Gandhi, U.S. Ambassador Chester Bowles and a North Vietnamese diplomat.

Britain is co-chairman with the Soviet Union of the Geneva conference which ended the French-Indochina war in 1954. India is chairman of the International Control Commission for Vietnam. Canada and Poland are the other ICC members.

Thant met with Premier Kosygin, Communist party General Secretary Brezhnev and President Podgorny.

The talk with Kosygin was described as friendly. The other talks were not officially described.

SUPPORTS HANOI

Pravda, official organ of the Soviet Communist party, reports Thant's visit without comment but runs a long front-page editorial supporting what it called Hanoi's "clear-cut position... leading to a solution of the Vietnamese problem."

China's official New China news agency said Thant went to India last week "to peddle the U.S. peace talks scheme in collusion with Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi."

The broadcast called Kosygin, Wilson and Yugoslav President Tito "American lackeys who are whipping up a new peace talks campaign."

Thant's London schedule called for a meeting Tuesday morning with Foreign Secretary George Brown and luncheon with Wilson before departing for New York.

Wilson said Sunday he carried President Johnson's San Antonio formula as the road to peace in Vietnam to Kosygin when he visited Moscow Jan. 22-24.

CALLS FOR HALT

Johnson, in a speech in San Antonio, Tex., last September, promised an end to the bombing of North Vietnam when there is assurance from the Communist side that this will lead to prompt, productive peace talks.

North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh said last week the talks can begin as soon as the bombing stops.

WIRE BRIEFS

Fire 'Deliberate'

SAIGON (Reuters) — The militant faction of the Buddhist church in South Vietnam accused the United States today of taking advantage of the Viet Cong attack on Saigon to fire on and burn the An Quang pagoda, headquarters of the faction.

Quake Recorded

NEW YORK (AP) — A strong earthquake, probably in the China Sea, was recorded at 1:04 a.m. EST today on Fordham University's seismograph, the university reported.

The Seismological Institute in Uppsala, Sweden, said the earthquake appeared to be near New Guinea.

Doctors on Strike

ROME (Reuters) — A three-day strike by hospital doctors hit Italy today, as meningitis outbreaks were reported in many cities. The 20,000 doctors demanded payment of their full wages, blocked by the failure of heavily-indebted semi-state health insurance firms to settle their accounts with hospitals.

Boycott by Negroes

ORANGEBURG, S.C. (AP) — Negroes turned to a boycott of white business today as they pressed for civil rights gains and immediate removal of national guard troops from this riot-torn city.

Another Confession

MCCARTHY TANGLES WITH WHITE HOUSE

N-Arms Charge Starts Row in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Eugene J. McCarthy (Dem.-Minn.), target of White House fire in an atomic tangle, said Sunday he would be extremely surprised if the U.S. defence department hadn't considered use of nuclear weapons in the war in Vietnam.

McCarthy, citing Washington rumors, said: "There have been suggestions around the edges that nuclear weapons—tactical weapons—have been recommended, have been considered."

He started to add, "I'm sure they've been in some way—" but stopped and went on: "If they haven't been considered by the Pentagon in some kind of program planning I would be very much surprised."

The senator said the administration's public response that it doesn't plan to use such weapons "tends to relieve me somewhat."

'Makes a Farce Of Restraints'

OTTAWA (CP) — The Liberal government stood fast on its medical care insurance program today, prompting a slashing attack by Conservative leader Stanfield, who urged a pullback.

Prime Minister Pearson announced the stand-pat position in the Commons. The national prepaid insurance plan would start on schedule July 1 even though only one or two provinces will join initially.

Mr. Stanfield immediately rose and called the decision to proceed over provincial objections a "grave disappointment" that will do "a grave disservice to Canada."

In his sharpest anti-government attack since he became Conservative leader, Mr. Stanfield said it was folly to proceed with the plan in the light of present economic conditions.

The government should reconsider its decision and work out a medical care program acceptable to the provinces, a program they can proceed with.

He said the decision to proceed following a cabinet review "makes a farce" of the federal policy of economic restraint and a joke of the policies of Finance Minister Sharp.

The decision will "discredit Canada in the eyes of the world," which is afflicted with economic strains. Medical care insurance would only add to them.

He said the program will not provide medical help where it is most needed. The provinces where the need is greatest cannot afford to join the plan.

WILL CAUSE STRAIN

It will badly strain federal-provincial relations because of provincial antagonism to the plan. It will increase Canada's financial difficulties.

Additional cost of the plan would raise the cost of living. Higher unemployment would result.

"The government should be prepared to practice restraint and not simply preach it."

The government was taking the country "nearer and nearer to the precipice over which it would tumble to disaster."

Prime Minister Pearson, announcing the decision today in the Commons, said the implementation of the plan with only two provinces will mean that, in effect, there will be no national plan as originally envisaged.

He expressed the hope that as financial conditions warrant other provinces will join up. He offered to discuss the plan with them in the light of experience after July 1.

Mr. Pearson did not identify the one or two provinces which will be participating.

However, Saskatchewan's plan, now in operation, meets the requirements laid down.

And Premier Bennett of British Columbia said last week that if the plan goes ahead July 1 his province will participate.

FORMER commissioner of the RCMP, Clifford W. Harvison died today in an Ottawa hospital after a brief illness. He was 65. He retired in 1963 after serving three years in the top post. During his retirement he wrote a book, The Horsemen, an account of his years in the force. See story on Page 13.

Two Offices Of Son Bob Entered

VANCOUVER (CP) — Offices of Highways Minister Gagliardi's son Bob were broken into and searched in Kamloops and Vancouver over the weekend.

The Kamloops office also doubled as headquarters of the Del Cielo Development Co., whose land development project outside Kamloops has caused a controversy in the provincial legislature.

Mr. Gagliardi's sons — Bob and Bill — have been named in the legislature in connection with alleged improprieties in granting highway access to the Del Cielo development.

Bob Gagliardi said today he didn't know whether the double break-in was part of a plot or "could be just co-incidence."

He said other offices near his Vancouver office were also entered.

Only a few stamps were reported missing from the Vancouver office and the minister's son said he didn't know if anything was missing from the Kamloops office.

Health Grants Mean Surplus for B.C.

Premier Bennett was not available for immediate comment but the federal government's decision to proceed with medicare will assure him of a $6.7 million surplus in the surplus in the budget he announced on Friday.

A total of $18 million is provided for the B.C. Medical Plan in the coming fiscal year beginning April 1.

With the federal government liable to pay half the costs starting July 1, this should result in at least $6 million of federal subsidy which was not calculated in the budget for the 1968-69 year.

Mr. Bennett already has said several times that any necessary legislation to qualify the B.C.M.P. for the national subsidy will be introduced to the government during the current session.

PHIL ADMITS SHOP FOREMAN PAINTED SIGNS FOR FIRM

VANCOUVER (CP) — Highways Minister Phil Gagliardi said today that the foreman of his department's Kamloops sign-painting shop painted signs for a firm handling a controversial land development.

But he said the foreman, whom he identified as Frank Methot, apparently painted the signs on his own time, not during his regular department working hours.

The minister made the comments in an interview and during a talk-back radio show. He was referring to a statement Saturday by Don Guild, 17, a former department employee, who said the signs were painted in the department's Kamloops building.

Guild later made a statutory declaration concerning the matter.

"I saw the two signs being painted for Del Cielo Heights in a room behind the sign shop by an employee of the department of highways during his regular working hours," Guild said in his declaration.

He said he was later called out early one morning last August "to assist with the erection of these two signs, one being on a building known to me as the office of Del Cielo Heights and the other facing the Trans-Canada Highway at the junction of the Merritt Highway and the Trans-Canada Highway."

Mr. Gagliardi said of Mr. Methot:

"He has worked as a sign painter in my department for quite some time. He does sign painting on the side... from what I gather he was asked to paint these signs. This he did and he was paid for it."

He said he believes Mr. Methot painted the signs on his own time and that if they were erected at 5 a.m. "that must also have been on their own time because nobody in our department shops starts out at 5 o'clock in the morning raising signs."

AT HIGHWAY JUNCTION

The Del Cielo development is on unorganized territory at the junction of the Trans-Canada Highway and the Merritt Highway, just outside Kamloops.

Guild came forward following an hour-long Kamloops television program during which Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi described action he has taken in the Del Cielo land development.

Alex Macdonald (NDP-Vancouver East) brought the land development to attention by suggesting in the legislature there had been improprieties in granting of highway access to the Del Cielo company.

Gagliardi's son, Bill, has admitted he has an office in the Del Cielo building but has claimed he has nothing to do with the company.

JOHNSON ASKS TALKS TO HALT MISSILE RACE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson said today the United States "urgently desires to start talks with the Soviet Union on prospects of curbing the missile race."

In a message to Congress transmitting an annual report by the arms control and disarmament agency, Johnson noted that the Kremlin has agreed to such talks in principle.

He expressed belief that both the United States and the Soviet Union are aware of the dangers of nuclear arms races.

"This is why the United States urgently desires to begin discussions with the Soviet Union about the buildup of offensive and defensive missiles on both sides," he said in his statement.

Johnson said he hoped the talks could begin soon toward "stopping the rapid accumulation and refinement" of such missiles.

in the race course area. The infantrymen sealed the area off with armored personnel carriers, then appealed via loudspeaker from a hovering helicopter for the guerrillas to surrender. None came out. The infantrymen went in after them and later counted 42 Viet Cong dead, along with six U.S. troops killed and 13 wounded.

In another incident, a flare dropped to illuminate a sector of the city caused a house fire that killed 12 members of one family.

TOLL MOUNTS

In the 13 days up to midnight Sunday, Viet Cong-North Vietnamese losses totalled 32,245 dead and 6,307 captured, South Vietnamese military headquarters said. It gave combined forces military losses for the period as 3,265 killed, 340 missing and 11,363 wounded. The last separate report on U.S. casualties listed 973 dead as of midnight Saturday and 4,874 wounded.

The U.S. marines still awaited a massive assault on their combat base at Khe Sanh, which blocks the North Vietnamese from marching through South Vietnam's northwest corner into the population centres of its two northernmost provinces.

Improvement Shown By Victim of Fall

Fall victim Jesus Gomez, 47, of 2835 Nanaimo, is in fairly good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mr. Gomez, a painter, was seriously injured Thursday when a hydraulic lift supporting him failed. He plunged 14 feet, striking his head on a post.

Health Branch Should Get Responsibility for Alcoholism

The whole problem of fighting alcoholism should be taken away from the attorney-general's department and handed to the provincial health department, a conference decided here Saturday.

The request was made at the conclusion of a two-day meeting sponsored by the Greater Victoria Institute on Alcoholism.

The conference considers alcoholism a disease and a public health problem which could be more effectively combated by the health department.

Reg Clarkson, supervisor here for the Alcoholism Foundation of B.C., said there is a serious lack of education, treatment and rehabilitation facilities.

Earlier a panelist proposed a shakeup in the B.C. Liquor Control Board.

Newspaper feature writer Peter Loudon advocated a three-man commission to "keep liquor out of politics."

He said that the LCB should have one government member, one opposition member and one member from the community at large.

He said there should be a law against campaign fund contributions from anyone engaged in either the manufacture or distribution of liquor.

A three-man board representing more than one party would be likely to enforce it, he said.

A five-member youth panel generally condemned social drinking but condemned heavy drinking.

10 Children Afraid to Jump; Die in Fire

FRANKLIN, Pa. (AP) — Fire killed 10 persons Sunday, all of them terror-stricken children whose mother couldn't get them to jump from a second-storey window, firemen said.

Chief Dewey Moore of the Clintonville fire department said Mrs. Grossman, a widow, herded her 10 children, six boys and four girls aged 1 to 13, into one room on the second floor about 1 a.m. when the fire erupted. The youngsters had been sleeping.

Moore said she implored them to jump, but they wouldn't. She jumped from the window and urged them from outside. The children still wouldn't jump, said Moore.

HOWICH, Que. (CP) — Nine members of a family died Sunday when fire of unknown origin raced through the single-storey brick home they had planned to vacate a week ago.

Neighbors said the family of 12 postponed the moving date because their new home was not quite ready.

Dead are Allain Champ, 47, and eight of his 10 children ranging in age from 2 to 23.

Mr. Champ's wife Joan, her four-month-old daughter and her eldest son Richard, 18, were the only members of the family who survived. Firemen, working in a blizzard, were forced to tear down some of the walls before going into the basement where the bodies lay.

Parked Car Flipped Over

Late Sunday afternoon sightseeing traffic along the waterfront was disrupted temporarily when a car parked on Crescent Road was flipped over.

Oak Bay police said the parked car, owned by Edelgard Schalke, 1934 Crescent, overturned after it was hit by a car driven by David Spence, 1106 Bay Street.

Police said the accident occurred when the driver was handing a dog to a passenger in the front seat.

HEATH BACKS U.S. ACTIONS

Tories Accuse Wilson Of Viet 'Lecturing'

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson returned home from the United States and Canada Sunday and was assailed by Conservative leader Edward Heath for "lecturing" instead of supporting President Johnson on Vietnam.

Heath strongly endorsed the American position on Vietnam in a speech to young Conservatives.

He implied that Wilson should have done the same in White House talks last week.

Heath said: "In this critical situation the least that a Labor government can do is to stop lecturing those who are bearing the burden and making the sacrifices."

The remark apparently referred to Wilson's speech at a White House banquet Friday night when he advised Johnson to ignore "impatient and exasperated demands" for intensified fighting in Vietnam.

GO SLOW ASKED

Wilson's speech was widely interpreted in the British press as suggesting Johnson should ignore the "hawks" and go slow on Vietnam.

The prime minister has so far resisted pressure from Leftist members of his own party to drop British support of the American position on Vietnam, including bombing of the North. But there was speculation here that Wilson may soon shift this stand in manoeuvres to improve his political standing at home. Wilson himself said nothing to

GREENE ASKS:

How About Multi-Lingualism?

TORONTO (CP) — J. J. Greene, federal minister of agriculture, said Saturday it's a hoax if the two main language groups in Canada have constitutional guarantees and the others are forced to fend for themselves.

The agriculture minister and other candidates for the federal Liberal leadership were speaking at a press conference with members of the Canadian Ethnic Press Federation.

Mr. Greene said consideration should be given to making Canada a multilingual country with the main ethnic groups entitled to representation on the bench, in the Senate and on government bodies according to a mathematical formula in the constitution.

Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp said that it had never been his understanding the other language groups wanted special language rights.

"What they do ask is that people of their background should have the opportunity to participate in the affairs of Canada," he said.

When ethnic reporters said Canadians of German extraction want the German image improved on CBC programs, Mr. Sharp said he wouldn't meddle in CBC affairs.

"There has been a lack of judgment on the part of the CBC, but only the CBC can correct that," he said.

Paul Martin, minister of external affairs, said the CBC, under the law, is an autonomous body.

He said he was sure Mr. Sharp would be prepared to change the law if this was needed to correct abuses. "I know he shares some of my prejudices," he said.

Transport Minister Paul Hellyer said CBC programming doesn't represent a large enough cross-section of Canada's ethnic groups.

Labor Loses Another MP

SHEFFIELD, England (Reuters)—A Labor party member of Parliament, Richard Winterbottom, died Saturday—the second Labor backbencher to die in two days. He was 68.

Friday Sydney Silverman, 72, who successfully led a campaign to have hanging abolished in Britain, died.

The deaths cut the government's working majority to 81 from 83 in the 630-seat House of Commons and raises the number of by-elections to be held to eight.

LINDSAY UNHAPPY

Garbagemen Attacking Rotting Piles

NEW YORK (AP)—Men are busy today collecting tons of garbage rotting on New York City's streets. That's about all Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor John V. Lindsay agree on.

Differences between the two prominent Republicans increased during the weekend, spurred by Rockefeller's action Saturday night to end the city's nine-day, illegal strike by the United Sanitationmen's Association.

Rockefeller, in an unprecedented move, placed the city's 10,000 sanitationmen under New York state control and put them back on the streets. By then, garbage had a 10-to-1 edge on the collectors—10 tons for each man.

Lindsay, already fuming because Rockefeller balked at the mayor's request for a national guard call-up, exploded at the state takeover, calling it unsound and a threat to every city in the U.S.

DECLARES 'BLACKMAIL'

Rockefeller's plan, which gave the union a settlement Lindsay termed "blackmail," would put the city's sanitation department under state control during a temporary health emergency.

It still left the union without a contract. Rockefeller was to ask the state legislature today to drop its regular business and pass the special legislation.

The governor announced Sunday night he would ask for a three-day delay in the effective date of the legislation, "to give the mayor an opportunity to work out a settlement with the sanitation union."

Lindsay didn't comment on the proposed delay, but an aide called it unrealistic. "How can you bargain with the union," the Lindsay aide said, "when they know that just by waiting three days they can get the maximum amount promised them by the governor?"

Lindsay said the plan would reward a union that violated a state law banning strikes by public employees and at best was "a makeshift labor peace bought at a price decreed by the state."

More than 5,000 sanitation men worked Sunday in temperatures mostly in the teens. The war on garbage was slowed on scores of streets where firemen had put out trash blazes and left an icy mass of trash.

Sanitationmen, who also are responsible for snow removal, moved first into slum areas, where the piles were largest. One three-block stretch in Harlem yielded three truckloads.

Lindsay, who ordered the men to work 11-hour shifts, toured parts of the city Sunday and said it would be several days before the mess was cleared.

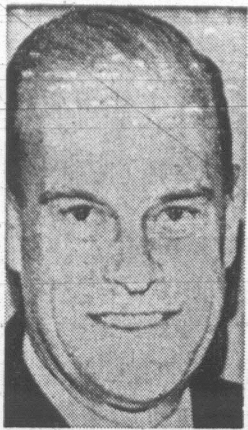

City health officials warned it would be at least Friday before a threat to health eased.

Rockefeller's settlement gave the sanitationmen a $425-a-year raise, retroactive to last July 1, when their old contract expired. The old wage rates went from $6,424 a year for beginners to $7,856 after three years.

Lindsay said Saturday the city's top offer was a $375 annual raise, which could cost the city $3,750,000. Rockefeller, however, said the city had agreed to $4,000,000 in raises—or $400 a man—and thus the $425 would cost the city only an additional $250,000.

The agreement also provides double time for Sunday and holiday work, said Paul O'Dwyer, a union lawyer. Not affected by the governor's action, he said, is the 15-day jail sentence imposed on the union president, John DeLury, for defying a back-to-work order issued under the state's Taylor Law which bans strikes by public employees.

The union was found guilty of contempt, too, and can be fined $10,000 a day for the nine-day strike, and lose its dues check-off privilege.

EDGING closer to candidate status is Trade Minister Robert Winters who made an attention-getting appearance as the closing session Saturday of the Ontario Liberal Association. The 57-year-old minister said he was "heartened" by the welcome and "I'll have to see what's behind it."

Births Decline For 8th Year

OTTAWA (CP)—The number of births in Canada declined in 1967 for the eighth consecutive year while marriages increased for the sixth year in a row, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports.

The 368,000 births were 20,000 fewer in 1966 and the 1967 birth rate of 18 per 1,000 was the lowest ever recorded. Marriages numbered 164,000, up 8,400 to a new high, while deaths totalled 149,000, down slightly from 1966.

The marriage rate of eight per 1,000 was well below the record while the death rate of 7.3 per 1,000 is the lowest ever.

SIX-NATION FORCE TO POLICE NIGERIA?

LONDON (Reuters) — The Guardian says secret talks in London have set the stage for a ceasefire in the Nigerian civil war with a projected Commonwealth force to police the battle zone.

Correspondent Patric Keatley says negotiations involving both the secessionist Biafrans of the former Eastern Region and the federal Nigerian government have been going on for six weeks.

A spokesman at the Commonwealth office declined comment. Observers noted, however, that Arnold Smith of Canada, Commonwealth secretary-general, and his deputy, A. L. Adu of Ghana, flew to Lagos Thursday.

The Guardian says that if the plan came into being the Commonwealth force would require about 3,000 troops from about six countries. The cost for the first six months would be about £2,000,000.

The story suggests troops might be requested from the Caribbean, India, Pakistan and Malaysia.

UN Debates Birth Control

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — A new proposal here would have the General Assembly declare that birth control information and materials are the right of every family.

The Draft Declaration on Social Progress and Development says:

"Each family has the right, within the framework of national demographic policies, to the knowledge and means to decide the number and spacing of children."

It was written by a working party made up of half the 32 members of the UN Commission for Social Development and is intended for eventual adoption by the 126-nation General Assembly.

The Roman Catholic Church has discouraged birth control by artificial means. The working party includes several countries with big Catholic populations.

But of all its members, only the Soviet Union tried to change the birth control provision. The working party's report shows that the Soviet delegation suggested recognizing a family's right only "to decide the number of its children" without mentioning the knowledge and means to do that.

The report also shows that the Soviet Union, supported by Egypt, wants the declaration to say that social development requires that a country be compensated for the damages caused by aggression and "illegal occupation of territory by the aggressor."

The report will be on the table when the commission meets Monday. The text is to be worked over and sent on to the Economic and Social Council meeting here May 6-31.

When the Birds Come Home

IT WOULD BE NICE TO BELIEVE that the Budget Speech proposal to convert the B.C. School Authority into a Crown corporation will mean that provincial school districts will have access to lower-interest Canada Pension Fund money for construction needs. That seems to be the purpose of the move, along with Premier Bennett's pointed remark that the pension fund could only be used to finance the borrowings of Crown corporations.

Mr. Bennett, however, carefully refrained from boxing himself in, and there is no certainty that as in the past all the available money from this fund, as well as nearly all the provincial pension and trust funds, will not be poured into the insatiable maw of B.C. Hydro which now accounts for 70 per cent of the nearly $2 billions record debt guaranteed by the province. Indeed, it is unlikely that agencies other than Hydro will see much of the lower interest money available this year because of the mounting costs of the Peace and Columbia River projects. Mr. Bennett's insistence on the theme of restraint in school construction is added emphasis.

The question of using low-interest borrowings to finance ostensibly revenue-producing government projects, and high-interest borrowing for social purposes needs careful public examination, as Liberal MLA Dr. Patrick McGeer said in the Legislature last week. The long-term effect of the government's policy is to distort the relative costs of the programs — the dams and other power facilities will be priced artificially low because of financing well under current market rates, while capital projects such as schools and hospitals will be priced high by being forced into the open market when interest rates are at all-time peaks.

There is the danger of another distortion involved in use of pension funds for relatively low-cost borrowing, one not peculiar to this province. This is the too-easy expansion of government expenditure outside the discipline of the free capital market. In the country as a whole last year, contributions to the Canada and the Quebec pension funds totalled $1.6 billions, the bulk of it available for provincial borrowing since there is little payout at this early stage in the plans. Despite the availability of this extra money, the provinces and municipalities together boosted their public borrowing by 13 per cent, from $1.9 billion in 1966 to $2.5 billion in 1967. If pension funds are added, the increase would be more in the order of 50 per cent.

Commenting on this, Mr. Richard Scott-Ram, an economist with the National Industrial Conference Board, said recently: "It seems to be a maxim nowadays that governments are intent upon setting the levels of their total spending and lending well above current available revenues; thus, any windfall on the revenue side (such as pension contributions) is immediately seized upon as a basis for even more spending and lending."

What seems to be forgotten is that the time is fast approaching when this easy money will not be available — in fact will have to be paid back for the benefit of pension beneficiaries. The load of debt service and repayment obligations will then be a heavy one for even the wealthiest provinces to carry.

Wheels Within Wheels

IF THE HEIGHTENED TENSION in Korea — highlighted by the North Korean seizure of the U.S.S. Pueblo and the assassination attempt on South Korean President Park — proves to be the prelude to a new Korean war the former allies of the last Korean struggle, including Canada, will find themselves in an ambiguous situation.

An important fact about the negotiations being carried on at Panmunjon over the Pueblo, and the stepped-up border fighting incidents is that the United States representatives are there ostensibly as the leaders of a United Nations force with which North Korea has never signed a peace treaty. In theory Canada and the other allies are still at war with North Korea, although there have been strong indications from Ottawa — and from London, too — that recent developments are viewed as a purely American affair. To add to the oddity of the situation, the American negotiators for the UN Armistice Commission in Korea have excluded from the talks even their South Korean allies. This, according to officials in Washington, is to forestall the possibility that the North Koreans might decide to invite some of their own colleagues along — notably the Chinese.

The slight, as it is viewed in Seoul, has angered the South Koreans and to mollify them President Johnson has requested another $100 millions worth of arms for the South Korean forces. Since the southern forces—even excluding the 50,000 American troops in the country — already outnumber the northern forces and are reportedly better equipped, this is bound to raise the tension and stimulate a matching Northern move. If war were to result, a whole new series of problems could arise, quite apart from the conduct of the fighting, for Washington no doubt would find its allies of the earlier Korean campaign most reluctant to engage in further warfare. The tensions of Korea could reach out to divide the Western alliance.

On Your Right You Will See . . .

TO THE THOUSANDS WHO know him, George "Rebel" Mowat seems much too young to be retiring, much too alive to have become a community "institution." Yet both of these conditions have come to pass and Victoria is losing the active services of one of the greatest boosters and home-town enthusiasts it has ever had.

To a whole generation of Victorians, Rebel typified the neighborhood kid who made good, the diamond in the rough who took on a lustre that made him a local celebrity. To others he appears as a master of natural wit and repartee, never at a loss for a cheery word, an impish grin, or a righteous protest in aid of his beloved city. Still others know him as an incomparable showman, a ready man when lives were to be saved, a peerless professional sightseeing guide, and a loyal friend.

Rebel's guises were, and are, many. His stage was a driver's seat, his auditorium a crowded bus, his performance was a song of praise for his home town, and his success was phenomenal. Newsboys and premiers, clerics and school youngsters, lifelong friends and passing tourists — they are all human beings to Rebel, and as such they qualify for the same respect, the same cheerful welcome and the same penetrating, bluff rejection of false pride or meanness.

When Rebel left his buses for the last time on Saturday for a lengthy holiday, a significant bit of Victoria, old and new, went with him. But we expect him to be around for a long time yet; and that is a pleasant prospect, for Rebel has that precious gift, increasingly rare these days: he makes living seem fun.

"... you see, THIS way we're doing things TOGETHER, and the article said as long as we ..."

FROM CALGARY

'Living Theatre' a Dead Duck

AN announcement last week that the Celebrity Concert Series was going out of the business of merchandising musical genius on the prairies spotlights the perilous state of culture in the boom-docks. It also underlines how the taste of the new leisure class differs so sharply from the old.

Except for Winnipeg, where it is kept alive by whopping transfusions of government money, the "living theatre" is a dead duck. Government subsidies keep symphony orchestras in business. But all the professional football teams go from box-office success to box-office triumph; touring American folk-rock groups fill hockey rinks and travelogues have become so popular that in Calgary they fill the Jubilee Auditorium for two shows a night.

The Celebrity Concert Series was founded almost 60 years ago by Fred M. Gee, a reformed Winnipeg concert pianist. He arranged to book the top stars of the world concert stage into Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Calgary. Not even the great depression could completely submerge the western thirst for culture. But the affluent age of the sixties has done it in. Culture, it seems, can't stand prosperity.

Top Artists

The roster of the trouper reads like a Who's Who of the world musical stage. It runs from Nelson Eddy, Jeanette MacDonald, Rise Stevens, Menuhin, Kreisler, Heifetz, Lily Pons and Grace Moore to D'Oyly Carte, the Royal Ballet and the Red Army Chorus.

The heyday of the Celebrity Concert series was in the years when the prairie cities were poor and underpopulated. Outside Winnipeg, there was not one of them that had a population of 100,000. Now both Regina and Saskatoon are well over that and Calgary and Edmonton are pushing 400,000. But as population has risen interest in the touring celebrities has declined.

Now rising costs and declining income have moved the directors of the booking agency to quit while they are ahead. Ironically, they are quitting when the facilities for staging such entertainment are reaching the peak. Calgary and Edmonton have superb auditoriums, which seat 2,700 each in plush comfort. Saskatoon's new $5 million auditorium will soon be completed. Winnipeg has some magnificently designed cultural centres in the works. The Regina auditorium will be completed in a couple of years.

But with improved facilities has come higher rental costs, higher advertising costs and worst of all an inflation in the asking price of the current celebrity crop. To stay in business, the symphonies rely on the drawing power of guest artists — who command and get whopping fees from inexperienced managers.

It is not the touring fiddlers, singers and pianists alone who have hit the rocks. The Calgary Allied Arts Centre, which was born in the depression and survived the war, lives on the rim of bankruptcy from year to year. Most of the once active amateur theatrical groups have disappeared. An effort to sustain a professional theatre company is doomed to extinction.

Subsidized Symphonies

Government subsidies kept the symphonies in business. Great crusades are launched annually to get the populace to subscribe for season tickets for bargain basement prices. The best seats for the symphonies are hawked around for little more than the worst seats for the Stampeder or Roughrider Football games.

There is of course great bitterness when the various cities compare what each manages to pry loose from the governments. Calgary complains because its city council manages only $350 a year for its professional acting group, while Edmonton actors get a total of $50,000 from the city, province and Canada Council. Calgary spends less to subsidize its Allied Arts Centre than to build a fence around a soft-ball park, or to pave the parking lot of an athletic field.

Outdoor 'Culture'

When it comes to cultural development, Calgary is probably the Scrooge city of western Canada. Culture, for Calgarians, does not extend much beyond a burgeoning passion for skiing, pony clubs, travelling, football and stampeding. From the periodic calls for help from the Cultural Clutches of the other cities, the west generally is declaring itself out of the traditional cultural modes. And at a time when both the Icecapades and the Moscow Circus sell out week-long stands and have to work in special matinees to accommodate the public demand for tickets.

FROM MELBOURNE

Defence in the Pacific

THE new Australian prime minister, John Gorton, has lost no time in asserting that Australia will not now or in the near future increase her fighting force in Vietnam. "Is that a permanent situation?" he was asked. "As far as I am concerned it is," he replied.

Mr. Gorton had made known in the press gallery at Canberra his conviction that as a nation of 12 million, with massive domestic problems of development, Australia was fully committed abroad. Asked what her role would be "if fighting blew up in Korea," he said, "That's a terribly 'iffy' question because nothing has yet come up; but if we are to continue doing what we are doing in Vietnam and to sustain our forces in Singapore and Malaysia, that's about all a country of our size can reasonably be expected to do."

Cleared Air

The prime minister thus cleared the air as the minister for external affairs, Paul Hasluck, departed for talks in Singapore and Kuala Lumpur designed to discover what the governments there hope for from the five-power conference suggested by Tunku Abdul Rahman, prime minister of Malaysia, especially what they expect of Australia.

Mr. Hasluck has always held that Australia should not take over Britain's role when she withdrew but should assume a distinctive role of her own. One proposal, which has strong backing from service leaders, is that Australia should withdraw her forces in 1971 and base them at home, keeping them in constant readiness to meet threats to the security of her near north. The alternative is to maintain Australian forces in the area at existing strength, with their role and status clearly redefined.

Stretched to Limit

At the moment the defence forces are stretched to the limit, with too much combat strength deployed far from home. In Vietnam are three infantry battalions, a squadron of Centurion tanks and a special air service squadron attached to the Vietnamese army; the RAAF has eight Canberra bombers, 16 Iroquois helicopters and six Caribou transports; the navy, a guided missile destroyer.

In Malaysia-Singapore is a battalion group attached to the Commonwealth brigade at Terendak, two jet fighter squadrons at Butterworth air base and two escort vessels attached to the RN's fleet; and for four months each year the aircraft carrier Melbourne and one or two smaller vessels are in the area.

Whatever new role Australia may play, she must ensure that Malaysia and Singapore make a determined effort to build up their own defences and that all Australian forces are provided under a new regional defence agreement, imposing reciprocal obligations on such terms as to sustain good relations with Indonesia and commend themselves to other Southeast Asian neighbors. For this reason Mr. Hasluck will visit Jakarta to assure the government that nothing Australia may do will be directed at any country in her near north.

Impending Vacuum

What of the impending power vacuum in the Indian Ocean? Australia has been under firm pressure from Washington to help fill this. She must develop the defences of Cocos Island, now her own territory, and act instead of talk about the contemplated naval base at Cockburn Sound, near Fremantle, the port of Perth, capital of Western Australia.

Australia, New Zealand and all the other countries of Southeast Asia put together cannot completely replace the British forces that are to leave. Only the United States can do that, as and when she will. So ultimately Vietnam is part and parcel of the general defence problem in this troubled corner of the world.

WASHINGTON:

Intricate Planning

By CHARLES BARTLETT

IN the view of administration experts, pinpoint vengeance was probably the demoralizing feature of the Viet Cong raids on South Vietnamese cities. The assassinations of persons who had been co-operating with the government, was carried out so precisely that it is certain to become much harder to persuade influential natives to take up the leadership of the pacification effort. One Vietnamese colonel stationed in the delta had sent his wife and three children to live more safely in Saigon. But the attacking VC's tracked them to their apartment there and killed them all.

Bartlett

The number of guerrillas involved in the Vietnamese attacks is less surprising to Washington than their remarkable synchronization. Although the VC command was known to have an excellent coded radio network, few believed that such intricate planning was possible. The guerrillas who penetrated the cities had detailed orders: Where to pick up their rifles, when and where to fight, etc. Even the black propaganda was coordinated; rumors were circulated in every city that the guerrillas had been encouraged by the Americans to attack in order to persuade the government to accept a coalition.

The infiltrators' orders did not however tell them how to withdraw from the cities, a fact which leads the experts to believe that the best VC troops were not committed to this offensive and are being held in reserve for the second punch.

Ticklish Dilemma

The setback in South Vietnam has posed a ticklish dilemma for Sen. Edward Kennedy, now primed with many illustrations of extensive corruption within the Saigon government. Kennedy took his information to President Johnson, who fired off some cables to Gen. Westmoreland, but he is also contemplating a Senate investigation after his report on the refugee situation is published in 10 days.

Some Senate criticism of Vietnamese corruption is helpful to officials like Ambassador Bunker who are trying to persuade the ruling generals to purge their ranks. But a full-scale inquiry by Kennedy could prove to be more than the fragile situation can stand.

Service to Community

In your issue of February 3, you published an article by Audrey St. D. Johnson in which she dealt with the subject of museums in general and the Maritime Museum of British Columbia in particular.

Everyone is entitled to his opinion. However, for the lasting benefit of this country, it is to be hoped that there are few who hold Mrs. Johnson's views on museums and other, similar, links with our past.

The history of this province springs, in large measure, from the sea and from our inland waterways. The Maritime Museum of British Columbia is endeavouring to preserve and present this history in an entertaining way.

When the Maritime Museum moved into its present location it did so only after much soul-searching by the then Trustees of the Museum and after lengthy consideration by the Victoria City Council of the time. The building was not "filched away" at the last moment. The schemes for use of the building presented by various groups to City Council were all studied carefully. The proposal submitted by the trustees of the Maritime Museum was accepted by council as being the most realistic and workable. In any plan the costs of operation of the building itself must be considered. Does Mrs. Johnson realize that basic operating costs amount to something like $12,000 a year for taxes, light, water and maintenance alone? I doubt it.

I believe the majority of thinking people in this area recognize the service being rendered by this Museum and its supporters. I can only hope that they will indicate their approval by shunning any suggestions that the Maritime Museum is not an important part of our lives. J. W. D. Symons, Director, Maritime Museum of British Columbia.

Bonner for Prime Minister

Many eyes are fixed on the candidates for the Prime Minister's job. We certainly don't want a dictator; there is one in the running. The fact that a man is in the cabinet does not mean that he has the ability to run the multi-million dollar business that is Canada.

The best men in Canada should be picked for the cabinet, whether they come from B.C. or P.E.I. The present gang have got the country into a bad financial mess, and are completely disorganized.

Canada needs a strong man at the head, with the ability to pick the right men for his cabinet and control them. We have had two men in a row who were not fitted for the job. It is a pity that with the party system an outsider can't get the job. I can think of a good man, Robert Bonner. It is to be hoped that the members of the House can restrain the Prime Minister in one of his activities. He is supposed to be on the sidelines, but he appears to be working hard still to appease the noisy minority in Quebec. — L. Richards, 4201 Glendenning.

Looking Back

From the Times, Feb. 12, 1968

Great Britain has ordered her famous fourth cruiser squadron of eleven warships to Esquimaux.

No explanation of the English reason for sending the big fleet to the most westerly sea frontier of the empire is vouchsafed by the admiralty.

Advices say that the transfer of the fleet to Esquimaux will be made at the same time as the American Atlantic fleet pursues its course to San Francisco and Manila.

Electronic Spying: A Super-Secret And Multi-Billion Dollar Business

By JOHN DAVY and ANDREW WILSON

At the Santa Monica headquarters of the Rand Corporation, a "think tank" of the United States Air Force, a visitor asked recently where the next Cuba would be.

"In outer space," was the reply of an expert. "Probably over the interception of an American reconnaissance satellite."

The context was right; the location wrong. The nearest thing to another Cuba turned out to be the interception of an intelligence ship, not in outer space but a prosaic 13 miles or so off North Korea.

It is the second time in eight years that automated spying has provoked a crisis. The last was in 1960 when Francis Gary Powers' U-2 intelligence plane was shot down over Russia and Nikita Khrushchev called off a summit meeting.

The North Koreans could have chosen other targets than the Pueblo with which to stir things up. But the fact is that the new type of spying, particularly with electronics, promises endless "provocations" and intrusions for interested governments to seize on.

Fleet of 30

The lightly-armed 179-foot long Pueblo is only one of a fleet of about 30 American Ferret ships that patrol the globe with their array of antennae and electronic listening devices. Their twofold task is to discover hostile radar wavelengths and to intercept radio messages. This is what the ill-fated Liberty was doing when attacked (losing 33 dead) by Israeli aircraft in the Middle East war.

The Russians call their spy ships trawlers, though their fishing is desultory. They shadow every NATO naval exercise, occasionally appear within 10 miles of the Missile Early Warning Station at Fylingdales in Yorkshire, England, and once spoiled a naval display put on for the Queen Mother of Britain.

Some time ago a Soviet trawler went ashore off West Africa. When the tide went down its bottom was seen to be bristling with sonar devices for listening to movements underwater.

Aircraft are still in the spy business. High-flying U-2s, flown by Formosan pilots, are sometimes shot down over the Chinese mainland. But the real aerial spy trade has passed to reconnaissance satellites, American and Soviet, which pass over all of us daily, among some 400 other man-made objects orbiting the earth.

Photographs

One function of intelligence satellites is optical. At a height of 150 miles they can photograph objects on earth only 20 feet long. Films from the American satellites are ejected in capsules which, after re-entering the atmosphere and sprouting a parachute, are caught by aircraft.

Their other major function is electronic: to pick up information about enemy radar and also, perhaps, by looking along the horizon, to record telephone traffic being transmitted by microwave radio links (such as those beamed from the British Post Office's London tower.)

Another type of intelligence satellite has infra-red sensors which, with the aid of new compact power sources, is expected to be able to detect clandestine industrial installations.

Back on earth, electronic spying is in the hands of ground stations of which there are probably 1,000 deployed wherever there are United States forces. Most stations are operated by servicemen and could be mistaken for ordinary military signal stations. But the collection of this intelligence is in different hands.

Secret Agency

The overlord of electronic spying for America is an organization called the National Security Agency. The agency was set up by a secret directive of President Truman in 1952 to take over communications and spying for both the Pentagon (which already had its own organization, the Armed Forces Security Agency) and other organs of the executive.

The NSA has been described as being "within, but not part of, the department of defence." Its job is to intercept, analyze and decode the messages of all other nations, including America's friends.

Its headquarters is a $35 million building on an 82-acre site at Fort Meade, Md., halfway between Washington and Baltimore. Opened in 1953, with an $11 million annex added later, the three-storey structure of concrete, glass and steel is surrounded by three wire fences — one of them electrified — and guarded by armed Marines.

Inside there are eight snack bars, an operating theatre, a dentist's surgery, a bank, a network of pneumatic tubes, and what is probably the largest assembly of computers in the world.

The agency has 13,000 civilian employees, a few thousand more than the Central Intelligence Agency — and at least 1,000 more overseas. It is much more hush-hush than the CIA, and the initials NSA are sometimes said to stand for "Never Say Anything."

Overseas the NSA has two regional headquarters, NSA Far East in Japan, and NSA Europe, in Germany. To these come the millions of tape recordings made of foreign radar and radio signals by ships, planes and land units.

Working with the NSA are two NATO establishments in London: the Communication Security and Evaluation Agency, Europe (ECSA) and the Signal Distribution and Accounting Agency, Europe (EUDAC).

Subordinate to the agency are also the communications intelligence services of the three armed forces, of which the biggest is the U.S. Air Force, with intelligence headquarters in Frankfurt and Hawaii, as well as Washington.

Exchange

The NSA does not come under the joint chiefs of staff, but reports through the secretary of defence to the president's National Security Council. The CIA reports in a similar way, and there is an exchange of information between the two bodies, controlled by a third one, the U.S. Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board, whose chairman for the past five years has been Clark Clifford, Robert S. McNamara's successor as defence secretary. Unofficial estimates put the current NSA budget at over $1,000,000,000 a year.

The raw material for this vast operation, which swallows 2 per cent of the annual defence budget, falls into two main kinds — radio messages between people, and radio and radar messages between machines. The first forms the basis for a vast codecracking effort; the second is the basis for a vast hidden arms race, the electronic warfare battle.

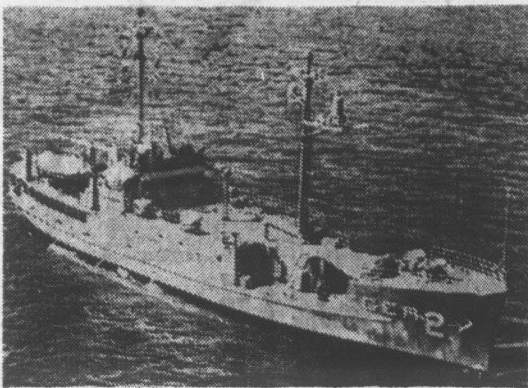

The size of the agency's task in monitoring military and diplomatic communications around the world may be judged by the problems which the Russians must face in monitoring United States traffic.

Messages

The U.S. defense communications systems alone transmit a quarter of a million messages annually, using equipment worth $2.5 billion, manned by 30,000 servicemen. This does not include the vast short-range radio traffic between aircraft and ships,

First major international incident provoked by modern spying techniques came in 1960 when a U-2 aircraft (above) and pilot Gary Powers were shot down by Soviet rockets. The latest incident was the capture by North Korea of the U.S.S. Pueblo (right), a spy ship loaded with the most sophisticated electronic devices for listening in on communications and plotting radar patterns.

diplomatic or commercial traffic.

Possibly the most convincing explanation of the Pueblo's close approach to Korean shores is that, like the Liberty during the Middle East war, its mission was to record governmental and military radio traffic, in an attempt to get a line on North Korea's military and political intentions in the next few weeks.

Monitoring has to be selective in this way, and special attention is paid to spots where trouble is brewing. It was clear that something was going on in North Korea — the Pueblo probably moved in to listen to very high frequency messages, which can be picked up only at relatively short range.

A surprising amount of military and official communications still go on in clear — neither scrambled nor coded — because of the expense and labor involved. Nevertheless, even backward countries can now use very sophisticated codes by buying commercially available "rotor" type machines.

These consist of discs with the alphabet round the edge. The discs revolve as the text is typed into the machine, setting up a coding pattern with tens of thousands of different combinations. To crack the code, you need either enormously long passages of coded text, or some other clues. For instance, a foreign office may send the same circular message to each of its overseas embassies, and the coded versions can be used to help the cracking process.)

There is only one completely uncrackable code system, embodied in the famous "one-time pads," used by the Krogers, in which use is made of lists of random numbers of which only two identical codes exist — one for the encoder, one for the decoder. The highest security traffic of most advanced countries probably uses this random numbers system — including the Washington-Moscow hot line.

The NSA's eavesdropping and code-cracking operations, although using very advanced equipment and methods, represent a relatively traditional activity compared to the job of Prod (for Production), one of its fastest growing divisions. Prod provides the material for an endless electronic battle of wits, aimed at evading or deceiving enemy radar and missile guidance systems, while improving one's own.

built surface-to-air missiles. There are crude but effective jamming methods, in which aircraft swamp the radar receivers below with "noise." There are more subtle techniques of deception which distort the radar echoes, or insert extra pulses, to confuse the monitors below.

It may even be possible in some cases to broadcast pulses which completely disorder the timing mechanisms of the radar below. A single modern warship may contain five or six different radar systems — for watching the air, watching the sea surface, height ranging, gunnery control, missile guidance, etc. The Enterprise, the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier which was standing off North Korea, has a new type of aerial system weighing 200 tons, which replaces multiple dishes with electronic scanning techniques.

Electronic intelligence must constantly probe these systems to discover their weaknesses. It is a never-ending and increasingly expensive competition, already far out of reach of all but advanced nations.

It is also likely to encourage "saturation" strategies and tactics. To press home any attack through the electronic barrage will increasingly demand a variety of weapons and techniques, ranging from conventional anti-radar chaff, through electronic deception, to dummy missiles and warheads which can change course (using auxiliary rockets) during flight.

Precision attacks with one weapon against one target will become increasingly unrewarding, while blanket attacks, on both tactical and strategic scales, will be used to overwhelm the defences.

In the case of intercontinental ballistic rockets, the electronic accent is primarily on attempts to blind the enemy's missile early warning system; but there are also measures to confuse the electronic guidance system which puts missiles on their target course after launching (perhaps one reason why Soviet trawlers do so much fishing off the Cape Kennedy space-launch site).

Since the Soviet Union has relatively fewer and larger long-range missiles, an American ability to interfere with even a few hundred launches could be important. But with the development of Russian and American anti-missile defence systems there will now be a premium on electronic intelligence which could enable an attacker to blind the multi-function array radar which directs the defender's intercepting missiles.

If one side achieves this technique long before the other, the "destabilization" of the military balance could be critical. But there is nothing at present to suggest that the electronic warfare race is being won or lost.

Perhaps it was not just a joke when then Soviet Premier Khrushchev, visiting America in 1959, suggested to Ambassador Cabot Lodge that the U.S. and the Soviet Union should get together, pool their intelligence systems, and save the money.

A bigger risk — apart from that of local collisions such as the Pueblo incident — is that expenditure on electronic counter-measures, counter-counter-measures, counter-counter-counter-measures and so on will eventually make one side bankrupt.

Britain Can Do Without Import of U.S. Racism

By ALFRED FRIENDLY
The Washington Post

ing Britain's Indians, Pakistanis and West Indians into a political force, might be a very good thing. A Saul Alinsky, teaching minority groups to organize and press for their needs and rights, would be a useful and constructive agent.

The danger, however, is a black power drive that aims not at building political muscle to effectuate civil rights within the society but that proposes instead a revolutionary battle against the society and a tactic of resistance.

If the pattern of that version of black power is intensified in the United States in the next year, if it becomes the "in" thing, the swinging style to advance the Negro cause by warring on the white society, the prestige and support of the would-be black leaders of that persuasion here would be significantly enhanced.

Taking Over

They are already emerging from the wings and trying to take over such small organizational structures as exist.

Like their American counterparts, they are derisive of attempted improvements by civil rights legislation and, quite correctly, view moderate approaches at amelioration and accommodation as their worst enemies.

In November, a West Indian cabal of simon-pure Maoists seized the leadership of the Campaign Against Racial Discrimination, a small multi-racial group of liberals, one of the very few organizations in Britain working for civil rights. Its nearest equivalent would be the NAACP 30 years ago.

The new Maoist leadership's program is militant, black-only "anti-imperialism" — world revolution against all whites. It is about as germane and useful to the needs of the colored population as a campaign for free silver, the single tax or the 13-month calendar.

Not Inevitable

It is in no way ordained, however, that the rank and file of the colored population here must inevitably embrace the unmitigated anti-white policy. If Parliament enacts legislation to be introduced in a few weeks for an enlightened and far-reaching civil rights program and, more important, if the non-whites thereupon battle effectively to avail themselves of the new protections, a decent racial solution for Britain could be brought about.

Unfortunately, there are almost no British white liberals of means and influence who are giving the support that is essential to prospective colored leaders of the non-revolutionary breed to help them build organization and prestige.

In their failure, the victory may go by default to the other team.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS

Tracing The Long Fight

By ELIZABETH FORBES.

The position held by women in the British Isles today is the result of a long series of struggles that stretches back almost 200 years. And the life stories of those who fought for the acceptance of their sex in every field of endeavor, make sad reading even though they resulted in success.

One of the first to speak out for women's rights was Mary Wollstonecraft, a children's governess in Dublin.

In 1788 she had the temerity to appear in the drawing room of her mistress, Lady Kingsborough, where she was supposed to be seen but not heard, and to engage the guests in conversation on the rights of women.

She was dismissed, of course, and immediately went to London, where she joined a "society of elect rebels" who gathered at various homes to discuss this contentious subject.

At 29 years of age, Miss Wollstonecraft became a leader in this circle. She wrote pamphlets on the "vindication of the rights of women" as she called it, in which she claimed for women the privilege of education, economic independence, the vote, and representation in Parliament.

This remember, as early as the 1780's.

Descriptions of her vary widely. Some called her gently and retiring. Others a hyena in petticoats. She died when she was 38. But it was her keen mind that opened the way for a struggle that was to continue for many years.

Following Mary Wollstonecraft came other pioneer women crusaders. Florence Nightingale who lifted nursing from a profession attracting only whores (apart from some members of religious orders) to one of high regard.

Elizabeth Garrett, Elizabeth Blackwell and Sophia Jex Blake, who in the face of enormous opposition, bullied doctors into recognizing their right to be included on the medical register.

Octavia Hill, who helped the poor to regain their sense of pride by striving for the provision of adequate housing for them and by setting up communal gardens and savings banks.

Emmeline Pankhurst and those who fought the longest battle of all — the battle for the vote.

That struggle got a forward push when the philosopher John Stuart Mill made a fiery speech in favor of votes for women. The idea was resisted by other famous politicians such as Gladstone and Asquith. And the battle continued until after the end of the First World War.

In 1918, recognizing the contribution made by the women of the British Isles to the war effort and bowing its head, no doubt, to the inevitable, the government passed a Representation of the People Act giving the vote to women of 30 years or over who were householders or the wives of householders. (Mark this — universal votes for women of 21 or over didn't come until 10 years later.)

This year marks the 50th anniversary of the passing of that Act and the women of the British Isles are planning to celebrate the occasion in style.

Committees representing leading women's organizations have been formed to arrange various gatherings. Attempts are being made to trace members of the suffrage movement who may still be alive and to glean from them facts that are almost lost now in the mists of time.

Up in Scotland it's been discovered that although many books have been published in the past few years on the struggle for women's rights, they have contained hardly any reference to the contribution made by Scottish women — and men.

So a committee is planning to put together some notes about those who were leaders of the movement in the land of the heather.

So far this research has uncovered that most of the militants were Glasgow folk. Except for one elderly lady, over 80 now, who was the female piper for an Edinburgh demonstration in 1909.

The committee has been unable to trace any members of the suffrage movement who went to prison in Scotland. (They chained themselves to lamp standards and were herded behind bars and fed bread and water by the score in England.)

If there happens to be any former prisoners living in and around Victoria — will they please put up their hands.

FORD-GM STRUGGLE NOW PERSONAL FEUD

DETROIT (WP)—Competition between General Motors and Ford Motor Company will be more intense than ever because of the rivalry between two men—Semon E. (Bunkie) Knudsen, newly-named president of Ford, and Edward N. Cole, who was chosen over Knudsen three months ago to be the next president of GM.

The unusual defection of Knudsen from an executive vice-presidency at GM to Ford this past week will put the traditional competition between the No. 1 and 2 auto firms on a personal level.

"I'm sure they regard themselves as natural adversaries and this will only heighten the competition," said one auto executive.

Another put it this way: "Knudsen is going to do his damndest to prove that GM made a mistake in picking Cole. This will not be the normal type of competition you see in the industry."

The two were never the best of friends at GM, according to informed auto men who described their relationship as one of "restrained animosity".

U.S. Car Strike Eyed by Union

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—The United Auto Workers Union is prepared to use its international power to strike United States auto firms to put leverage on Canadian subsidiaries, a senior UAW official said Sunday.

Dennis McDermott, the union's Toronto area director, told a labor seminar that if Canadian auto workers encounter problems because they are not permitted by law to strike over grievance during the life of the contract, the union would strike the parent firm in the U.S.

He said that when the UAW struck the General Motors of Canada Ltd. plant at St. Therese, Que. in 1966 in support of wage parity with the Oshawa plant, the union closed U.S. plants that were filling the market normally supplied by St. Therese.

"We cooked up a bunch of grievances and we closed the plant down," said Mr. McDermott, who is slated to assume the UAW's top spot in Canada. "Then we went back to St. Therese and said 'How do you like these apples?' They settled the strike in a week."

Mr. McDermott also told of a letter sent to the Chrysler Corp. in Detroit by the international union warning the company the union would not tolerate a situation in which Chrysler Canada took advantage of its workers because they did not have the legal right to strike during the life of their contract.

In the United States, the union has the right to strike at any time over certain grievances—such as disputes over work standards—that are considered non-arbitrable.

The letter, signed by Douglas Fraser, director of UAW's Chrysler department, said the international union would take all necessary steps and commit its full resources to assist Canadian workers so they are not at a disadvantage because they do not have the right to strike on non-arbitrable grievances.

The letter said the union would also call on all its locals in the United States to lend assistance to the Canadian workers.

OTTAWA OBSERVERS SAY:

Viet Peace Best Medicine For Economic Ills in U.S.

By DENNIS ORCHARD.

OTTAWA (CP)—It is stretching a point to blame the Vietnam war for all of North America's financial ills, but it is almost axiomatic that peace would provide a magnificent cure.

Expert sources here say peace would quickly correct the United States balance-of-payments deficit, subject of new government measures that triggered an attack last month on the Canadian dollar.

Peace would ease pressure on capital markets, where the urgent claims of governments are being met only at extremely high rates of interest.

Finally, peace would take the heat out of the U.S. economy, forcing major adjustments to prevent an economic slump but certainly reducing pressures of inflation.

Because of heavy long-term investments and military spending abroad, Americans can balance their financial settlements with the rest of the world only by selling gold and by borrowing dollars through the short-term investments of foreign business, banks, and governments.

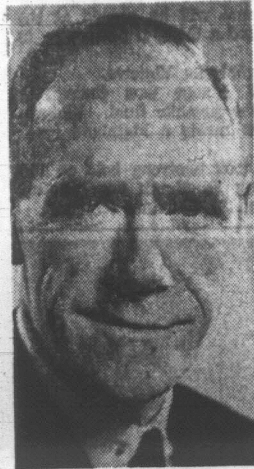

The U.S. has been piling up these short-term debts through chronic balance-of-payment deficits, with increasing concern about the willingness of foreigners to keep lending.

COULD CAUSE DAMAGE

If the supply should fall short of the demand, the U.S. can obtain funds by pulling in its investments and aid, but only with great potential damage to countries like Canada.

Canada uses $1,000,000,000 or more a year of U.S. investment to cover its own current-account payments deficit, and even a hint that the well is drying up can provoke an attack on the Canadian dollar.

The January balance-of-payments corrections, although they concentrate on Europe and largely spare Canada, were enough to bring on just such an assault.

SHARP
... peace and prosperity

Speculators gambled that Canada would devalue its currency, and it took a public statement by the U.S. administration to make counter-measures work.

One of the factors in that crisis and in the Canada-U.S. financial relationship generally has been the inseparable play of their capital markets.

The Bank of Canada was obliged to raise its bank rate to seven per cent from six per cent Jan. 21 to stem loss of funds; but even in normal periods generally higher interest rates across the board are necessary to attract capital from the U.S.

CITES VIETNAM WAR

This means that Canada must follow U.S. credit patterns, and Finance Minister Sharp has without hesitation blamed the Vietnam war for much of the current pressure on the market.

The U.S. government is spending $25,000,000,000 a year on the war, an obvious reason for its $12,500,000,000 deficit in the calendar year 1967.

A deficit of about the same proportions is predicted for 1968 unless Congress approves a 1½-per-cent surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes.

The administration has long been pleading for the surcharge, which would cut the deficit by $8,000,000,000 and syphon off excessive private demand in the economy.

President Johnson, in his annual economic report last week, said that without a tax increase the U.S. faces "a feverish boom that could generate an unacceptable acceleration of price increases, a possible financial crisis, and perhaps ultimately a recession."

That could only mean a dose of the same for Canada, which faithfully mirrors the general trends of the U.S. economy.

Economists say Canada passed in 1966 through the "demand-pull" inflation now threatening the U.S. and has entered a "cost-push" inflation, with pressures off but prices still rising.

French Ski Master Wins Second Medal

GRENOBLE, France (CP) — Sking master Jean-Claude Killy of France won the men's giant slalom, with ridiculous ease today, and was set to become the first triple gold medal winner of the 10th Winter Olympic Games.

Killy, the 24-year-old innkeeper's son, got his second gold of the games by a decisive margin of 2.22 seconds, a wide spread in skiing where the difference among the winners and runners-up is often clocked in hundredths of a second.

Killy aimed at a sweep of the three men's alpine races. He has the downhill and giant slalom in his pocket and now goes after the special slalom Friday and Saturday.

The Frenchman, who flashed to victory in the downhill Friday, set a blistering pace Sunday in the first of the two giant slalom runs, and beat Willy Favre of Switzerland with the second-fastest run today.

Only once before in Olympic history has anyone scored an alpine triple. Austria's Toni Sailer did that in the 1956 games.

SKATING RECORD

World champion Johanna Schot gave The Netherlands its second gold medal in women's speed skating, zipping to victory in the 3,000-metre race and cracking the Olympic mark held by Russia's Lidia Shoblikova.

The Russian woman set it in 1960 at Squaw Valley, Calif., and no one has seen three of her four Olympic marks go by the boards. She hasn't done well in defending her four titles. Today she was sixth. Saturday she finished 11th in the 1,000 metres.

Two Canadians finished well back in the field of 26. Doreen MacCannell of Winnipeg was 18th and Marcia Parsons of Red Deer, Alta., who raced against the gold winner, ended in a 22nd-place tie with a Korean girl.

In the day's other early final, Magnus Solberg, a 31-year-old Norwegian policeman, captured the biathlon, a competition that combines cross-country skiing with rifle marksmanship. Two Russians, Alexander Titov and Vladimir Goudartsev, placed second and third respectively for the silver and bronze medals.

With 15 events completed shortly before noon today, Italy, France, Norway and the Netherlands all had two gold medals. Seven other countries had one apiece.

FLEMING WINS

The U.S. won its first gold medal Saturday when pretty Peggy Fleming captured the women's figure skating event. Canada still has not recorded a team point.

Eugenio Monti of Italy, nine times world champion in bobslees, finally won an Olympic gold medal. Monti and his brakeman, Luciano de Paolis, wound up in a 4:41.54 tie on aggregate time with a West German team at the end of the third and fourth two-man bobsled heats Sunday to give the Italians their second gold medal.

Olympic officials first announced gold medals would be given both to the Italian pair and to West Germans Horst Eloth and Peps Bader. After further consultation they invoked an international bobsledding rule and announced that Monti and his partner had placed first because they had the fastest single run, a course record 1:10.5.

The West Germans received the silver medal and the bronze went to Ion Panturu and Nicolae Neagoe of Romania.

The 1,000-metre women's speed-skating gold medal was won Sunday by a Dutch blonde, Carolina Geijssen, in the Olympic-record time of 1:32.6. Ludmila Titova, second in 1:32.9, also snapped the mark of 1:33.2 set by Russia's Lidia Shoblikova in 1964. Dianna Skolobov of the United States took the bronze.

WINS JUMP EVENT

Dorten MacCannell of Winnipeg was 20th in 1:37.6; Marcia Parsons of Red Deer, Alta., 21st in 1:37.7, and Wendy Thompson of Winnipeg 27th in 1:41.1.

Jiri Raska became the first Czech ever to win an Olympic medal in Nordic skiing, winning the 70-metre special ski jump with 216.5 points. He was followed by Austrians Reinhold Bachler at 214.2 and Baldu Preml at 212.6.

The Nordic combined, made up of jumping and cross-country skiing, was won by Franz Keller, a 23-year-old West German sergeant, with 449.04 points.

Miss Fleming did as expected in winning the figure-skating title Saturday night and continued to deny reports that she would turn professional.

"My aim is to win my third world championship—I am not thinking of anything else," she said Monday. The world championships will be held in Geneva Feb. 27-March 3.

Gabriele Seyfert of East Germany took the silver medal as expected and Hana Maskova of Czechoslovakia, with a scintillating free skating show, climbed past Austria's Beatrix Schuba to take the bronze.

Right behind the three winners in the quality of her free-skating performance was Karen Magnussen, the Canadian champion from North Vancouver. Miss Magnussen, only 15, finished seventh over-all, after having been 10th in the school figures.

With 15 events completed shortly before noon today, Italy, France, Norway and the Netherlands all had two gold medals. Seven other countries had one apiece.

FLEMING WINS

The U.S. won its first gold medal Saturday when pretty Peggy Fleming captured the women's figure skating event. Canada still has not recorded a team point.

Eugenio Monti of Italy, nine times world champion in bobslees, finally won an Olympic gold medal. Monti and his brakeman, Luciano de Paolis, wound up in a 4:41.54 tie on aggregate time with a West German team at the end of the third and fourth two-man bobsled heats Sunday to give the Italians their second gold medal.

Olympic officials first announced gold medals would be given both to the Italian pair and to West Germans Horst Eloth and Peps Bader. After further consultation they invoked an international bobsledding rule and announced that Monti and his partner had placed first because they had the fastest single run, a course record 1:10.5.

The West Germans received the silver medal and the bronze went to Ion Panturu and Nicolae Neagoe of Romania.

The 1,000-metre women's speed-skating gold medal was won Sunday by a Dutch blonde, Carolina Geijssen, in the Olympic-record time of 1:32.6. Ludmila Titova, second in 1:32.9, also snapped the mark of 1:33.2 set by Russia's Lidia Shoblikova in 1964. Dianna Skolobov of the United States took the bronze.

WINS JUMP EVENT

Dorten MacCannell of Winnipeg was 20th in 1:37.6; Marcia Parsons of Red Deer, Alta., 21st in 1:37.7, and Wendy Thompson of Winnipeg 27th in 1:41.1.

Jiri Raska became the first Czech ever to win an Olympic medal in Nordic skiing, winning the 70-metre special ski jump with 216.5 points. He was followed by Austrians Reinhold Bachler at 214.2 and Baldu Preml at 212.6.

The Nordic combined, made up of jumping and cross-country skiing, was won by Franz Keller, a 23-year-old West German sergeant, with 449.04 points.

Miss Fleming did as expected

HOT NIXONS CAPTURE ISLAND HOCKEY CROWN

Victoria Nixon's have put their mark on the juvenile championship, Esquimalt's grip is strongest in the bantam series, so the greatest dog-fight for Vancouver Island minor hockey laurels is a midge argument.

Victoria and Nanaimo fought to a 2-2 overtime draw in the opening game of a best-of-three series for the midge title Sunday in Nanaimo. Second game will be played at the Memorial Arena next Saturday, and a third, if necessary, in Nanaimo next Sunday.

Murray Kennett scored both goals for Victoria. The George Legault-coached Nixons won their 16th straight game, 8-3, to wrap up the juvenile final. Victoria won the first game 6-3, and now meets a Mainland team for the Coast championship.

At Esquimalt, the host club took a strong hold on the Island's bantam title by defeating Esquimalt 6-2. Second game of the series will be played in Nanaimo tonight.

LEAFS UPSET

Habs, Flyers Stretch Leads

Oakland Seals had Billy Harris on display and Toronto Maple Leafs on the ropes in the National Hockey League Sunday.

The Leafs, last in the expansion Western Division, spotted the Leafs a two-goal lead then charged back to upset Toronto 4-3.

The loss held the Leafs in fifth place in the Eastern race for playoff berths, four points behind New York Rangers.

At the same time the Leafs used weekend games against the Leafs and Minnesota North Stars to try and sell Harris as possible trading material.

Harris, suspended until the weekend for walking out of a Jan. 19 game with the Rangers, failed to show well in either a 5-2 loss to Minnesota Saturday or Sunday's victory.

Seals officials indicated he had been offered both to New York and St. Louis Blues without any response and the week for walking out of a Jan. 19 game with the Rangers, failed to show well in either a 5-2 loss to Minnesota Saturday or Sunday's victory.

LEAP-FROG

Dough Mohns (11) of Chicago Black Hawks seemingly comes off end of leap-frog line as Gilles Tremblay (5) of Montreal awaits his turn. Most anxious participant is Canadiens' goalie Gump Worsley (1), slightly out of position and looking for a puck that is sliding, un-noticed, behind him. Game, in long run, proved "A-OK" for Montreal. Habs defeated Chicago twice at weekend—6-4 and 6-0—to stretch lead atop National Hockey League. (AP wire-photo.)

Chinooks Take Playoff Crown

VANCOUVER — It was Drew Schroeder's turn here Saturday night and he pulled the strings as Victoria Chinooks defeated CYO Saints 7-67 to win the Inter-City Junior Basketball League playoff title.

WEISKOPF

Chinooks, who knocked off the Saints in the three straight games in the best-of-five final, have won five successive playoff games and have advanced to the Pacific zone final against the Alberta champions. Winner of the Alberta-B.C. playoff will host the national junior final.

Player depth has been the outstanding feature of the Victoria success story this season with coach Moe Turner having several athletes capable of taking over as a team scoring leader.

Schroeder was Victoria's man-of-the-hour Saturday, firing 22 points to top both clubs and containing all-star Corey Jossul with a fine checking effort.

There was lots of help from Schroeder as the Chinooks overcame the ball smoothly and rebounded aggressively to stay in front all the way through Glen Moffat, Greg Schroeder and Mike O'Connor were absent because of illness.

Rod Fields added 15 points for Victoria and Ollie Moilanen, named the league's most valuable player in a half-time ceremony, contributed 13.

Leaders for the Saints were Clare Wakefield (20) and Brent McLean (19).

CHINOOKS (74): Drew Schroeder 22, Ollie Moilanen 13, Chris Hall 6, Al Judd 5, Danny Wade, Eric Walker 10, Barry Turner 2, Dave Wirtanen 6, Rod Fields 15.

VANCOUVER CYO (67): John Glasswick, Brian Hyland 2, Brent McLean 19, Corey Jossul 11, Brock Hillard 8, Ken St. Louis 5, Claire Wakefield 20, Glen Driedger, Bob Cunningham, Tony Herbert 5.

It was a 25-point putt from off the edge of the green that snaked and curled its way into the hole for an eagle.

The eagle gave him a four-under-par 68 for the day and a 15-under-par 273 for 72 holes.

Al Geiberger, playing in the same threesome, got an anticlimactic birdie 4 on the hole for 69 and second place at 274 and $18,000. Ray Floyd, who staged a great last-round rally, had a 67 and a 275 for $11,250.

Toronto's Al Balding had one of his best showings in years on the PGA tour with a tournament round of 281, just eight strokes off the pace and good for $2,721. George Knudson, also of Toronto, fired a 283 and earned $1,200.

Shamrocks Start Training Program

Coach Dave Unwin of Victoria Shamrocks is sending out the conditioning call today.

Holdovers, juniors, senior "B" players and all other prospects are invited to the first of a series of "light conditioning" workouts.

Session No. 1 for the Inter-City Lacrosse League team will be held in the Landowne Junior High gym tonight, starting at 8.

City Juniors Take Coast Team Titles

Victoria bowlers finished on top in the boys' and girls' team events of the sixth annual Pacific Coast Fivepin Association's junior tournament Saturday at Town and Country Lanes. In over-all standings they finished second.

A record 3,344 was rolled by the boys' team which included Dan Clark, Brian Scherr, Robin Milliken, Bernie White, Jim Burden and Garry White, who took over for Burden in the last game.

Gloria Crow, Dorothy Waters.

Tigers Record Third Straight

Victoria High Tigers routed Claremont 45-24 in the final game of a girls' invitational basketball tournament and claimed the Morrison Cup for a third straight year.

Tigers gained the final on their home floor by nipping Surrey's Queen Elizabeth 31-30 in overtime Friday while Claremont kayoed Esquimalt 37-17. Anne McKeachie and Janice Dicks scored 13 and seven points, respectively, for the Tigers.

Queen Elizabeth downed Esquimalt 34-12 to win the consolation game.

Travel Problem Delays Cougar Visit to Vernon

Victoria Cougars couldn't get off the ground with their power-play on Saturday night. That cost them a British Columbia Junior Hockey League decision. An airplane couldn't help Sunday. The travel difficulty created by fog proved less expensive. Cougars' scheduled Sunday game in Vernon was postponed.

Sunday's game was scheduled to complete Victoria's road commitments. The game will probably be completed on March 3.

Saturday night at Memorial Arena, Cougars missed an excellent chance of upsetting league-winning Penticton Broncos because of Victoria's inability to mount an offence while enjoying a man advantage through penalties.

Penticton won, 4-2, then made it a 2-for-2 weekend by defeating the Royals 6-2 in New Westminister on Sunday. In the only other game played at the weekend, Kamloops Rockets stalled Kelowna's playoff ambitions by clipping the Bucks 7-4.

Cougars enjoyed approximately 10 minutes with extra men but proved woefully inept during their "power" play.

Cougar forwards simply refused to shoot, pass or use their point men. By the same token, Cougars were at their best killing off their own penalties. Victoria played short-handed two men early in the opening period for a stretch of one minute, 45 seconds, but held off the Broncos through the efforts of Bill Mainland, Bob Webb, Terry Mitchell and goalie Ron Grahame.

GRAHAME SOLID

Grahame, filling in for regular Murray Finlay, played a strong game, holding Broncos to one goal for two periods. Broncos added their second on a power play and the fourth into an open net after Grahame was yanked in favor of an extra attacker in the last minute of play.

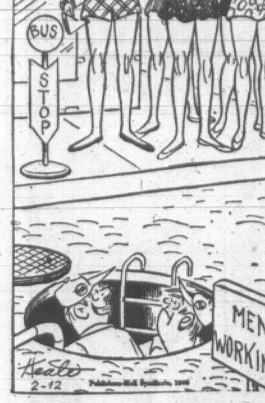

Grahame blocked 33 shots, including 25 in the first two periods, for perhaps his strongest game since early in the season.

Reg Cherenko, Ken Conner, Adrian Blais and Wayne Schaab scored Penticton's goals while Larry Limacher and Neil Sanders connected for Victoria.

KAMLOOPS RINK WINS

Times News Services

Kevin Smale's Kamloops rink was heading for Vancouver today to meet Richmond's Bob McCubbin in a best-of-three series for the B.C. men's curling championship.

The series in Vancouver's Pacific Club starts today and winds up Tuesday.

Smale, supported by Pete Scherba, Butch Allen and Bob McDonald, won the right to face the Coast's best by routing Emile Jurista of Kamloops 12-2 to win the B.C. (Interior) crown Saturday.

Smale eliminated Kamloops' Kelly Carlin while Jurista sidelined Al Lechance of Kamloops in the semifinals.

Winner of the B.C. title will represent the province in the national championships at Kelowna March 4-8.

Also heading in that direction were Herb Pile, who led his Geraldton rink to the North Ontario title, and Bill Tracy, skipping an RCAF crew from Bagotville to the Quebec crown for a third time.

In Alberta, Terry Watchorn of Fairview (Peace River), Ron Northcott of Calgary (south) and Dr. Bill Mitchell of Edmonton (north) picked up zone tickets that pushed them into the provincial finals at Edmonton next weekend.

Also heading in that direction were Herb Pile, who led his Geraldton rink to the North Ontario title, and Bill Tracy, skipping an RCAF crew from Bagotville to the Quebec crown for a third time.

University Athletes Spend Bleak Weekend

By STEVE POTTER

It was a black weekend for University of Victoria athletes, as teams took beatings in volleyball, basketball, rugby and ice-hockey.

Prospects looked good Friday night as the hockey Vikings started out with a hard-fought 4-4 tie against University of British Columbia Thunderbirds and B.O.B. Bell's basketball Vikings looked encouraging in dropping a 74-73 squeaker to Idaho's Lewis and Clark College.

Then things got worse.

Possibly the most disappointed were the Vikings, playing in a junior women's invitational basketball tournament at Edmon-

Vikettes led the 10-team field with nine straight victories in round-robin play, then dropped the championship game 23-36 to UBC Thunderettes, a team they whipped 36-20 in round-robin action.

Vikettes started Saturday with a 27-19 win over University of Saskatchewan's Regina squad. After breezing past UBC the Victoria outfit routed University of Manitoba 29-9, Winnipeg 33-14 and Lethbridge Bobkittens 38-21. The Uvic team won four games during the opening round of play.

Marg Maysmith led round-robin scoring with 72 points, Jean Robertson ran a close second with 57, Lynn Haglund chalked up 44, Marcia McIntyre 33, Gail Vaughan 26 and Marg Woodley 21.

On the home front, the volleyball Vikings were upset in the Canadian-American invitational tourney at Gordon Head gym. The favored Uvic squad finished second in the two-game round-robin tournament that included UBC's Thunderbirds, British Columbia Institute of Technology Panthers, University of Washington Huskies, Washington Athletic Club of Seattle, and Simon Fraser Clansmen.

Washington Athletic Club lost only one game in winning the tournament, while Vikings finished up with a 7-3 record for the second spot ahead of the Huskies.

GIRLS BETTER

Distaff volleyballers were more successful Saturday afternoon, winning all four of their games to take a three-team tourney at Oak Bay High School.

Maryhurst College from Portland Oregon finished second by defeating their high school hosts 15-7 after the teams finished round-robin play with identical 1-3 records.

Wendy Aaronsen played a strong game spiking for the Vikettes, and she was backed up by Anne Fowler, who picked up a lot of points for the winners with her serving.

Hockey and basketball action reversed the optimistic outlook Saturday night however, as the hockey Vikings were buried 5-1 by the Thunderbirds and the hoopsters couldn't get rolling soon enough at Gordon Head, losing to Lewis and Clark 72-63.

POOR AFIELD

The basketball Vikings had trouble finding their range in the first half of their Saturday night encounter, scoring only 28 per cent of their field attempts in the first half to trail 35-19 at the buzzer.

Despite a brilliant 44-point surge in the second half, led by deadly sharpshooting from John Lauvaas, who canned 14 of his 21 points in the second frame, the Vikings couldn't contain the Idaho squad.

Both Uvic rugby teams were defeated over the weekend. Vikings were upset 3-0 by Oak Bay Wanderers in first division action on a try by Ian Baskerville. In second division play, the Norsemen were also upset 12-11 by the Oak Bay second team.

Things were brighter in field hockey as Uvic's second-string women fought to a scoreless tie with Maryhurst College of Portland Saturday.

Sunday the Americans took a crack at the first string squad and got soundly thumped 6-0. Saturday the first team tightened its stranglehold on first place with a 1-0 league defeat of Oak Bay.

YOUTHFUL FULLBACK from Fulham of English League first division, Henry Hill, 20, is expected to see action with Vancouver Royals Wednesday when North American Soccer League club tackles Bonussco of Brazil under lights at Royal Athletic Park. Game time is 7:30. Players from 10 countries are trying for places with Royals.

KEY MATCHES AHEAD ...

Fourth Straight for OKs

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Hard on the heels of Victoria's 2-0 victory over North Shore at Macdonald Park, a Saturday visitor—a fan-seemed delighted O'Keefes were riding in the more respectable area of third place in the Pacific Coast Soccer League.

Third, or first, or sixth ... how important can position really be with only three points separating six of the league's seven teams?

Before manager Frank Grealy joins that friendly fan in a heel-clicking, hippy-hop, he'd like to know the outcome of Victoria's next two games.

O'Keefes play Columbus in Vancouver next Sunday, then entertain UBC Thunderbirds at Macdonald Park on Feb. 24. The league standings (see right) point out significance of the matches. Columbus, the only team to enjoy a game-in-hand advantage on Victoria, is two points ahead of O'Keefes.

UBC moved a point ahead Sunday by defeating Firefighters 2-1 in Vancouver's Callister Park.

O'Keefes won their fourth straight victory in convincing fashion. Only some brilliant saves on the part of goalie Jerry Macey saved the cellar-dwelling Shores from a fate worse than the two-goal spread.

Ike MacKay's seventh goal of the season and Jim Menzies' second took care of Victoria's scoring in the first half.

Macey saved his best for the second half, robbing Menzies on at least three clear-cut chances and another by MacKay. Bill Hamilton, Peter Brett and Peter Wilson also had chances.

In scoring his second shut-out of the season, Victoria goalie Barry Sadler's best friend proved to be fullback Dave Stothard.

At Vancouver Sunday, Firemen took an early lead on Lou Trischuk's goal. But Thunderbirds' Keith Brookes tied the score just before the half and Russ Hillman pushed in the winner at the 70-minute mark.

Scots Stretch Shutout Streak

A good offence may be the best defence in some sports. But in the Victoria and District Soccer League, Canadian Scottish are proving that nothing beats a good defence. Period!

The Scots posted their third straight shutout Sunday to move to within one game of wrapping up the first division championship.

Franz Van Doesburg scored early and Gil McIlraith connected late. In between, Hourigan Kickers dominated play. But that doughty Scots defence held firm for a 2-0 victory.

Victoria West counted on the Dillon brothers for a 3-2 victory over Gorge that kept the Wests three points behind the Scots. Ranjit Dillon scored twice and brother Ranjit once for the Wests.

BRADLEY BOLD

In other first division matches, John Bradley's three goals provided Tally-Ho with a 3-1 victory over Luckies while the University Vikings hopped into third place by taming Red Lions 4-2.

In second division games, Vic West trounced Colony Inn 5-1. Mayfair clipped Sidney Hotel 4-2. Gorge defeated Falcons 4-2, and University's Norsemen dumped William Head Saints 7-1.

AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Ex-RCMP Chief,
Harvison Dies

OTTAWA (CP) — Clifford W. Harvison, former commissioner of the RCMP, died today in an Ottawa hospital after a brief illness. He was 65.

Mr. Harvison retired as commissioner Oct. 31, 1963, after three years in the top post in the national police. He was the last serving member of the RCMP who was also a member of the force's predecessor, the Royal Northwest Mounted Police.

Mr. Harvison joined the old Northwest Mounted Oct. 2, 1919, after having his appetite whetted from reading stories of the exploits of the force and listening to tales about it from visitors in his family's home.

He was born in Montreal March 26, 1902, spent his early years in Hamilton, Ont., and served in several provinces with the force later.

Although he spent 36 years with the force, he took a few years out to enter private business. In this period, he was assistant manager of the Better Business Bureau in Montreal.

When he retired, Prime Minister Pearson told the House of Commons: "Both in the ranks and as a commissioned officer, he has not only participated in but has made a distinct contribution to the development of the RCMP Police force into one of the finest law enforcement agencies of any country in the world."

After his retirement, he maintained his concern for police work. He carried out a survey on security for the police force in the Caribbean in Commonwealth country of Trinidad. He wrote a book, The Horsemen, an account of his years with the RCMP.

He is survived by his wife, the former Doris Quinn of Montreal, and a son, Weston, both now living in Ottawa.

He left the force in 1923 to get married. At that time no Mounted could marry until he had seven years of service.

He returned to the RCMP in 1932 and reached commissioned rank in six years. Shortly after he became commissioner, the RCMP marriage regulations were dropped to two years' service.

He took pride in the fact that he never fired a shot at anyone in his years of police work although he was fired on many times. Due to retire in April, 1963, he stayed on for several months at the request of the government.

HELPED CAPTURE SPY

Mr. Harvison played an important part in the capture of a German spy during the Second World War.

The spy landed from a German submarine in the Gaspe area of Quebec with $6,000 in Canadian cash and a portable transmitter.

The spy was captured and Harvison travelled from Montreal to talk to him. The upshot was that the spy turned his transmitter towards Hamburg for a year with material fed to him by the Canadian authorities. It was never explained exactly how this was arranged.

Mr. Harvison was a former president of the United Services Institute, the Cercle Universitaire, the Royal Canadian Military Institute and the Arctic Institute of North America.

He has also served as Canadian representative on Interpol, an agency co-ordinating police work among different countries. Mr. Harvison was stationed in Victoria for two periods during the 1950's.

When the RCMP took over from the B.C. provincial police in 1950 he was named officer in charge of the Criminal Investigation Branch in Victoria and served in that capacity until 1952.

In 1956 he returned to Victoria as commanding officer of the division, a post he held until 1959.

JET TRAINER CRASHES INTO BAY CITY BRIDGE

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Navy T33 jet trainer with two men aboard crashed into the San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge 15 feet above the five lane upper deck Sunday and tumbled into the water.

The crash scattered flaming pieces of metal in front of cars, one large chunk landing on the hood of a truck-tanker carrying 8,050 gallons of jet fuel. No motorists were injured, but several said their cars were sprayed with oil.

The two navy reservists, both of Los Angeles, were presumed dead.

Big U.S. Satellite
May Come Back Home

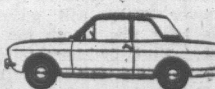

WASHINGTON (AP) — Echo I, the U.S. satellite that long has ranked as the brightest and most easily observed spacecraft orbiting the earth, appears to be about to die.

The Goddard Space Flight Centre at Greenbelt, Md., says the balloon-like Echo—observed by millions in virtually every country since its launching Aug. 12, 1960—may drop back to earth any time.

A spokesman said the North American Defence Command has forecast, on the basis of computer studies of the satellite's recent orbits, that it may fall into the earth's atmosphere about March 31.

But Echo I is a large, very light spherical object and therefore somewhat unpredictable.

The world's first passive communications satellite could disappear a week or two earlier than the computed date. Or, if the solar pressure that has been driving it earthward eases slightly, the sphere could remain aloft well into April.

VERSIONS IN CONFLICT

Writers Joust Over Rubaiyat

By JOHN LEBLANC

LONDON (CP) — A literary slugging match among British highbrows that threatens to rival the durable Shakespeare-Bacon squabble is resounding over poet Robert Graves' new version of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam.

The savants are bawling justly as they compare the 72-year-old Graves' sober-sided rendition of the 12th century Persian verses with Edward FitzGerald's lilting hymn to the joys of living it up with jug and girl friend.

The controversy has become so acrid that the latest expert to get into it claims that the advertised new-found manuscript used by Graves actually is a fake.

TRANSLATIONS DIFFER

FitzGerald turned out several free and swinging "translations" of the Persian astronomer-bard's writings about a century ago, so well that no one tried a rival Rubaiyat until Graves came along. He contends FitzGerald distorted Omar's "noble and mystic" poetry into a poem to the roistering life.

Graves stacked his free verse effort against FitzGerald's rhyming quatrains in collaboration with Omar Ali-Shah, a Persian scholar using a manuscript claimed to have been written by a Persian scribe soon after Omar's death in 1123. FitzGerald is generally believed to have used one of later date from Oxford University.

Critics have been wondering about the origins of Graves' manuscript. He and Ali-Shah have been fending them off in letters to the editor and simultaneously knocking FitzGerald.

"It is more important to have access to a truthful... version of a great writer than a farago of sugary, Christmas-cracker rhyme," Ali-Shah observed sharply in his latest letter.

Graves comes in with a reply to the sceptics curious about how his version—if based on a manuscript FitzGerald didn't know about—happened to follow the verse sequence of the 19th century translator.

He concludes that FitzGerald must have had the original manuscript after all. It is perfectly plain, he says, that a literary colleague sent him a "buried copy" from Calcutta.

HOLDS FITZ'S LINE

But L. P. Elwell-Sutton, senior lecturer in Persian at Edinburgh University, now states flatly in The New Statesman that the reverse is the case and that the sequence of the "new" manuscript actually traces back to FitzGerald. He says that in 1899 critic Edward Heron-Allen in notes to a new FitzGerald edition included what he believed to be the original Persian inspiration for each verse.

Vancouver Singers Chosen In Met Audition

Times music critic Audrey Johnson was one of three judges at the Western Canada auditions for the Metropolitan Opera House held in the Queen Elizabeth Playhouse, Vancouver, Sunday afternoon.

She was invited to help judge the 14 entrants representing B.C. and Alberta by Dr. Ida Halpern, district representative in Western Canada for the Metropolitan Opera.

There were no entrants from Vancouver Island and the four successful singers were all from Vancouver. They will go to Seattle later this month for a further audition by Metropolitan Opera House representative John Gutman.

The four are: Judith Frost, coloratura mezzo; Audrey Glass, mezzo; Ricki Turofsky, soprano, and Steven Henriksen, baritone. David Smith, tenor, also of Vancouver, was chosen as an alternate should any one of the four singers be unable to attend the Seattle audition.

"The standard at the Vancouver audition was very high," Mrs. Johnson said.

Her fellow judges were Dr. Jacob Hamm of Western Washington State University and Robert Suter, music critic of The Province, Vancouver.

Samoyed Judged Best Of 101 Dogs

A Samoyed, Banners of Torm, owned by Mrs. H. D. Bishop of Port Alberni, was judged best of 101 dogs in a sanction match at Sidney Sunday.

Judges in the Shoreline Kennel Club show at Sanscha Hall were professional handlers Gene Hahnen of Woodville, Wash., and Jim Hall of Maple Valley, Wash.

A pair of English Cocker Spaniels owned by Virginia Lyne and Mrs. D. Craigdallie, both of Victoria, was judged best brace in show.

Mrs. Bishop's Samoyed also won the best Canadian-bred and best puppy in show awards.

Playwright Dies

NEW YORK (UPI)—Howard Lindsay, actor and Pulitzer prize-winning playwright who co-authored Broadway's longest running hit, "Life With Father," died at his home Sunday after a long illness. He was 78.

His current assets are 44 cents, he says.

The money is from the foreclosure sale in 1961 of a gas station in Burnt Hills, N.Y., near Schenectady, that Wescott abandoned in 1953 when he headed west. The $15,124 sale price plus interest are in two bank accounts.

7-YEAR SEARCH

A law firm, appointed by the New York Supreme Court to handle the case, has searched for Wescott since 1961.

Two weeks ago, Wescott told reporters of his friends and their home in an undeveloped area a few blocks from the county courthouse.

In Burnt Hills, lawyer John P. Brown read the story. Brown pronounced the Los Angeles Times and told of the money owed Wescott.

NADEN PLAYERS

Gilbertians Spoof Opens On Tuesday

Third in a series of Gilbert and Sullivan productions by the Naden Amateur Concert Society opens Tuesday night at McPherson Playhouse, where it will continue nightly through Saturday.

The Mikado was a Gilbertian spoof on a 19th Century London fad for Japanese arts and crafts. It is one of the quaintest, and at the same time one of the most musically delightful of the G and S collaborations.

Major Alex Cumming, who directed the two previous presentations—Pinafore and Pirates of Penzance—is staging Mikado. Lieut.-Cmdr. Tudor Jones is the musical director.

The title role will be sung by Ray Middleton and the romantic leads, Yum-Yum and the lovely ward of Ko-Ko, and Nanki-Poo the wandering minstrel, by Barbara Desprez and Doug Ericson.

Other principals are Ko-Ko, Len Goodman; Pooh-Ba, Ralph Willing; and Katisha, Helen Middleton. The two little maids, companions of Yum-Yum, are Dena Noble and Rita Goodman. Les Pelletier, the set designer, appears as Pish-Tush.

Also connected with the productions are Lieut.-Cmdr. H. Norman, the producer, Lieut.-Cmdr. A. Hayley, publicity, and Jan Morrow who has provided the choreography.

Proceeds of the ticket sale will be devoted to the 1968 Christmas Party for underprivileged, retarded and emotionally disturbed children of the Greater Victoria area.

'BUM' REJECTS $19,000

He'd Rather Lose War on Poverty

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I'd rather stay at the bottom of the barrel. I'm not ready yet to go over to the other side."

With these words bearded, tattered Clint Wescott, 51, who says he's been on the bum for 15 years, refused $19,218. "Hand me a dollar," he said, "I'll take it—buy a little drink a little smoke."

The money belongs to Wescott, who sleeps in weeds in a vacant downtown lot and lives with his friends "One-eyed Jack," "Big Swede," and "The Missing Man."

His current assets are 44 cents, he says. The money is from the foreclosure sale in 1961 of a gas station in Burnt Hills, N.Y., near Schenectady, that Wescott abandoned in 1953 when he headed west. The $15,124 sale price plus interest are in two bank accounts.

AUDIENCE SPELLBOUND BY HARPIS

Fresh, Bright, Impertinent

By BERYL PROUDMAN
No matter what you hear to the contrary, never believe that symphony audiences in Victoria are conservative or stuffy.

On Sunday afternoon the Victoria Symphony Orchestra had a wonderful time playing fresh, bright, somewhat impertinently-scored music, and the audience loved it.

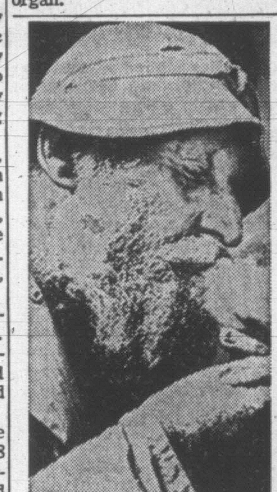

So many concerts have opened with Rossini overtures that it is always hazardous to play the more familiar ones yet again. The "Semiramide" overture which, like so many overtures, has become separated from the work it should introduce, was played with so dramatic an interpretation that, for once at least, it vividly described the characters and conjured the mood of its opera.

Such extravagant claims as "world-renowned," "king of his instrument," "the greatest in the world" have been so grossly over-used in the publicity which precedes visiting artists that such terms no longer ensure a first-rate performer.

AMAZING MUSICIAN

No matter how many superlatives were used to describe the technique and musicianship of Nicanor Zabaleta, they would seem inadequate. He is truly, without a doubt, one of the most amazing musicians ever to hold Victoria audiences spellbound.

Probably because harpists are far fewer than organists, Handel's Harp Concerto (op. 4, no. 6) has been familiar to us as an organ concerto for many years. Mr. Zabaleta assured me that it was definitely written for and played by a Welsh harpist, William Powell in 1736—two full years before it was published as a concerto for harpsichord or organ.

...not ready for wealth

Although scholarship grants the harp's precedence, those who knew it as an organ work might have felt some trepidation for its effectiveness in this unusual, authentic guise.

No one need have worried. Zabaleta's masterly playing retained all the grace and charm of the work and even the slow melodic line of the second movement posed no problem. The broad tone and almost imperceptible chord-breaking technique he used gave the impression of a slow sustained line.

NOT AS STRONG

In this the sixth and final work of the opus, Handel replaced the oboes with flutes and only here I think does the work suffer when played on a harp. Against the crystal tones of the solo instrument and the steady inevitable strings, flutes do not make as strong a contrast as oboes would have done.

Having paid due tribute to classical music, the orchestra turned to the Harp Concerto of Roderigo. A gay harp-melody which opened the work was banded around from section to section and, at intervals, revitalized by an obvious brightening key-change, just when that game might begin to pall. Instruments newly combined to produce sounds which defied description of analysis were strangely pleasing. With glissando chuckles, woodwind giggles and trumpet-trill hiccoughs the ordered chaos became increasingly outrageous until, just as the sounds verged on the unpleasant, with a deft flick, the sound-circus was instantly tamed by a heavenly-harp arpeggio in a recognizable key.

KEY TO KEY

With formal devices too the composer livened the work; with a dark fugal dance and a sort of canon, in which an oboe and viola plaintively chased one another. Throughout much of the concerto, the harp was backed by plucked strings from the cellos and basses while the brass and woodwind instruments cavorted gaily from key to key.

When two or three instruments played identical passages simultaneously in different keys,

A Sore Throat Can Be Dangerous

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Many people wonder if they should be concerned about a sore throat. Most sore throats clear up quickly, even without treatment. Sore throat is a symptom that is ushering in some infectious disease, such as measles or infectious mononucleosis.

Alvarez

Sometimes a physician will see at a glance that a sore throat is due to, or associated with, tonsillitis, or he will diagnose an "acute pharyngitis" or a laryngitis. The pharynx is the corridor in the back of the mouth that carries food from the back of the tongue down into the gullet. At all times there are millions of germs in the mucous membrane lining the pharynx, but usually most of these do the person no harm. Many of them are held in check by the tonsils, that serve to help us get rid of bad germs; in a way, tonsils are germ-killers. Sometimes the tonsils become so infected and damaged by germs that they have to be removed surgically. In many cases today an antibiotic will serve to put a quick end to an attack of tonsillitis. I suspect that different persons with their different hereditary tendencies, a cold, when it starts, perhaps in the throat, is likely to travel into either the sinuses or the bronchi (the tubes through which air goes into and out of the lungs). Rarely some people get a pneumonia with a cold, and another few, usually children, when they get a bad cold, get an inflamed ear. In the old days this often produced an inflammation of the mastoid cells back of the ear, but the coming of penicillin put an end to that.

With a cold, some people get a laryngitis, which is an inflammation of the "voice-box" (the Adam's apple in the front of the neck). Such inflammation of the vocal cords will bring a cough with much hoarseness, and for a while, perhaps a whispering form of speech. Years ago when I used to get four bad colds a year, most of them caused an inflammation of the lining of the antrum of Highmore (one of the nasal sinuses which is above the palate and under the cheek).

Excessive smoking commonly causes a sore throat, perhaps with a bad morning cough. Mouth-breathing at night, by morning can give the person a sore throat. In the cases of some people, a "deflected septum" (a crookedness of the thin strip of bone which separates the two halves of the nose) almost blocks the passage of air through one side of the nose, and this is bad, because it can force the person to breathe through his mouth. In some cases there is a "spur" which has grown out from the septum to block half of the nose. A good nose expert can straighten a deflected septum or can take off a spur.

Today, experts know that there are perhaps 100 viruses that can produce a cold or a sore throat or an infection that looks like an influenza. Every so often a college student will have a sore throat which is the beginning of the so-called infectious mononucleosis — sometimes called glandular fever. As yet, we doctors do not know the cause of that. It looks as if it ought to be due to a virus, and as I write this I read that the virus appears to have been discovered. The disease is not very catching, as is shown by the fact that often when a college student gets the disease in a severe form, his roommate will not get it.

An infection of the throat with a germ called a green streptococcus can be very dangerous because it can produce fever, arthritis, and a serious injury to the heart valves — a disease called "rheumatic fever." Fortunately, today monthly injections of a special type of penicillin can protect the child's heart valves from injury; also, if a valve is badly injured, a heart surgeon may be able to repair it.

HE WANTS TO FOLLOW IN UNCLE'S FOOTSTEPS

CHRISTOPHER... Atlas winner

A 14-year-old boy who hopes to become a policeman today won a World Book Atlas for a question submitted to 'The Times' Ask Andy.

It was also Christopher Silburn's first try in submitting a question. An Esquimalt Junior High School pupil, Christopher resides at 918 Lyall Street. He is 14 years and likes science, industrial education and social studies.

His ambition is to become a policeman like his uncle who is sheriff of Fresno country, Calif., though he admits he could have a change of mind by the time he finishes school. He is fond of baseball, lacrosse and hiking in summer.

The atlas, he said, will prove most helpful for his social studies.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a World Book Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Christopher Silburn, age 15, of Victoria, for his question:

Is there a North Magnetic Pole for eastern countries? The North Magnetic Pole is still in the future. But the murky feature appears on paintings made by careful planetary watchers of the 17th Century.

Telescopes of the 19th Century had improved, but compared with our modern instruments they still were mere toys. In the late 1870's, the odd blob in Jupiter's clouds was noticed again. It was red, deep brick red. And it seemed natural to name it the Great Red Spot. True, the instruments for observing it were not very sharp — but the brains of the planet-watchers were.

The size and shape of the Big Spot have not, it seems, changed through the centuries. The huge oval is roughly 8,000 miles wide and 32,000 miles long. This makes its width about equal to the earth's diameter and its length equal to four earth diameters. It would take a row of four earth-sized worlds to span the Big Spot from end to end.

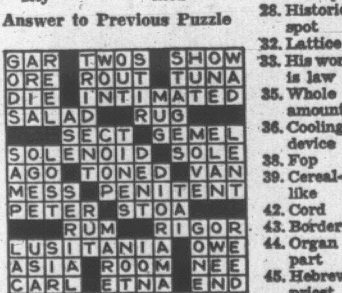

Our view of Jupiter's big round face is a flat picture seen from some 400 million miles away. The Big Spot also is seen as a flat feature. Hence we can estimate its flat area, but not its depth. It may be just a shallow spot hanging in Jupiter's dense and immense atmosphere. But some evidence suggests that the big bluish reaches deep below our bird's-eye view and may spring from the planet's surface, 8,000 miles below. At present, its roots and causes are unknown.

However, there is no doubt that the fascinating feature is a most bewildering bluish. Soon after it was named the Red Spot, its rosy glow faded to murky yellow. It looked like a 1600's. Since then, the rosy red has appeared and disappeared many times. But the oval that marks the spot remains the same shape and size — it merely changes color.

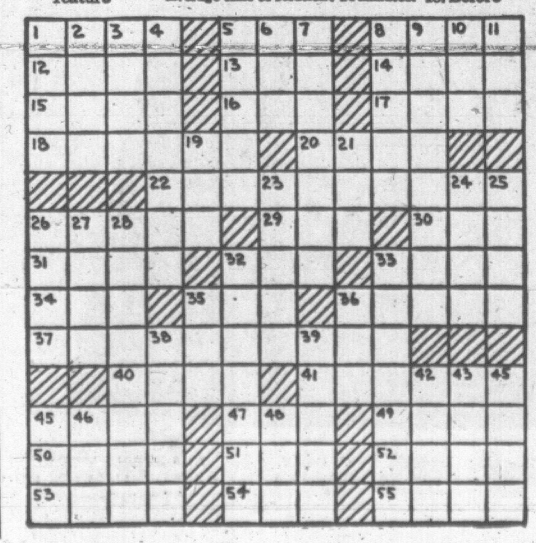

The lucky young space-agers who own telescopes have a chance to observe the changing colors on the face of giant Jupiter. The huge Red Spot was first observed some 300 years ago, long before our powerful, cosmic-probing telescopes were developed: At that time, the fascinating feature was a murky yellowish color, darker than the colorful bands of clouds that forever circle around the rest of the big planet. ## Foster Mother Citizen of Year

DUNCAN — A woman who has cared for over 150 foster children is Duncan's 1968 citizen of the year.

Mrs. J. G. (Josie) Lowood of McKinstry Street was the unanimous choice of the panel of judges in the Kinsmen-sponsored contest.

Mrs. Lowood, in her early 70s, still has four foster children in her home ranging in age from 7 to 15. She has kept foster children for 25 years.

As one of her sponsors said in a letter to the judges: "Mrs. Lowood is not one of our prominent citizens but one of those who work hard behind the scenes and who help to make Duncan a happier place in which to live."

The citizen of the year award will be presented to Mrs. Lowood at a Kinsmen Club dinner on Tuesday, Feb. 20. Judges were Rev. R. F. (Dick) Stephenson, Jack Mumm of the IWA, and Kin president Sandy Medler.

Previous contest winners were forest museum founder Gerry Wellburn and hospital board chairman Claude Green.

REEVE MORTON:

General Budget 'Can't Be Cut'

NORTH-COWICHAN—Despite a possible six-mill increase to meet education costs, North Cowichan isn't considering cuts in general expenditures.

Reeve Donald Morton said today: "It's quite impossible to cut in view of the many demands on the general rate, and we may even have to increase the general mill rate."

He said the effect of Premier Bennett's announcement of increased grants to school districts is now known but it should reduce the possible mill rate increase.

"In effect school boards do not produce budget but a list of expenses and the money just has to be found."

Major Kay Grouhel of Ladysmith had the same reaction.

She said there is no question of paring the general budget to accommodate increased school costs.

In Cowichan there is a $714,000 increase in expenditures bringing the total budget to over $3,000,000.

At Ladysmith the total budget is $1,803,480, a 22.6 per cent increase or $353,544.

Reeve Morton said: "However you work it out it looks like a six-mill increase in rates for both school districts (which overlap in North Cowichan)."

'BLEAKEST PICTURE'

"This is the bleakest picture as the six-mill increase does not allow for an increase in assessment value or in supplementary grants from the government."

"I sincerely hope the rate increase will be half that much."

Regarding an invitation to meet with Cowichan school board to discuss the cost increases, Reeve Morton said: "It is difficult to meet on common ground with a group whose ideas are so completely opposite."

Municipal council favors a wider-based system of taxation for education purposes.

Cowichan school board confirmed last week it sticks by the formula of property taxation for school purposes.

The joint meeting will take place Thursday evening.

Leaders Sign Indian Unity Constitution

NANAIMO — Unified leadership of British Columbia Indians was achieved for the first time Saturday with the signing of the Indian unity constitution which results in the formation of B.C. Indian Land Claims Committee.

The signatories were the presidents of the five major Indian organizations in B.C.: Guy Williams of the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia; Gus Gottfriedson of the North American Indian Brotherhood; Frank Calder, MLA, of the Nishga Tribal Council; Jack Peter of the West Coast Allied Tribes; and Russell Modeste of the Southern Vancouver Tribal Federation.

GOOD START

The said that this is a constructive beginning in the affairs of the B.C. Indians for the next 100 years.

The new committee will focus its attention on final settlement of B.C. Indian land claims; amendments to the constitution of Canada; federal proposals for settlement of the unsundered lands in B.C., and provincial proposals for municipal status for Indian reserves in B.C.

DUPLICATION OF SERVICES FEARED

Mayor, Reeve Oppose Formation of YMCA

DUNCAN — Establishment of a YMCA here was opposed Sunday night by Mayor Jim Quaife and Reeve Don Morton of North Cowichan.

Mayor Quaife told an exploratory meeting:

"I don't think at the present time it would be wise to bring the YMCA into this area. It would likely mean duplication of services projected by the joint recreation commissions of the city and municipality."

'ONLY FEAR'

"This is my only fear as otherwise I think the YMCA is a wonderful organization."

Jim McConnell, executive director of the Victoria YMCA, argued the YMCA could be supplementary in a community with existing municipal recreation facilities.

He told Mayor Quaife that initially a $10,000 sum would be required for rentals and equipment "though some have started with less."

Reeve Morton said: "Regarding the start of a YMCA, I couldn't be anything but 100 per cent in favor, but this is different from speaking in terms of a $500,000 building. YMCA training and objectives are excellent."

However, he too stressed the existence of two recreation commissions in the district.

Jointly they had called for a professional plan of development for Pioneer Park and this was delivered Thursday.

CONFIDENTIAL

Reeve Morton said this report is confidential until the commissions make recommendations to their respective councils.

"Where prospective YMCA members could come into this would be in getting people out to vote for the facilities they want."

"Recreation commission meetings are open to the public but no one ever turns up."

"You could find out who the people are who are already working to get the facilities you want."

"And you could show that you're prepared to help get these facilities."

"The recreation commissions get mighty little public support and it could be discouraging if they saw interest going to some other organization trying to provide the same facilities."

The meeting was sponsored by Rev. Allan Kerr and Young People's Association of St. John's Church, Duncan.

Rites Tuesday For Garage Proprietor

DUNCAN — Funeral services will be held Tuesday for George Patterson, 69, who died in hospital here Friday.

Mr. Patterson, a Manitoba native, came to Duncan 37 years ago and was proprietor of Empire Garage.

He was a former manager of the agricultural machinery department of Duncan Garage Ltd.

Mr. Patterson is survived by his wife and two sons, Donald and Kenneth, both of Victoria, and four sisters.

Funeral services will be held from Hirst's Funeral Chapel at 1:30 p.m. with Rev. P. K. Louie officiating and interment will follow at Mountain View Cemetery, Somenos.

Second Machine At Crofton Now Producing

CROFTON — A second newsprint mill at Crofton is working round the clock producing 350 tons a day.

The second newsprint machine went into production Feb. 1 after two years of planning and construction.

With its twin machine it gives a total Crofton production of 720 to 750 tons a day.

Some 65 per cent of the Crofton newsprint production goes to the 11 western United States; 10 per cent to the Canadian market and 25 per cent overseas to Australia, Japan and Malaya.

This last 25 per cent is off-shore loaded and the rest is transported by railcar.

Crofton mill has a storage newsprint capacity of 10,000 tons.

Lady Luck Rewrote Ending Of Sea Drama

The sea caught a tugboat off Oak Bay Sunday then threw it back like an undersized grise.

But for a few moments the skipper and crew of the Mainland tug Swiftsure II who had abandoned her, believed she was going down in the deep waters off Mowat Reef, at Trial Island.

The one-in-a-million story was told here today by marina operator Bob Wright who had a hand in the adventure.

He said that early Sunday afternoon the tug was towing a boom of logs through the channel separating Trial Island from Oak Bay golf course.

Seas were calm, there was an ebbing tide, it was the kind of a day mariners take coffee to the wheelhouse and nobody's looking for trouble.

But suddenly Swiftsure II caught up on a corner of the reef and hung there while the boom swept by her, carried by the tide.

The boom travelled so quickly the tow cable soon snapped taut and started pulling the tug over on her side.

Some shore watcher called Oak Bay police who called Oak Bay Marina and Mr. Wright got out to the reef in a motorboat.

Tug skipper Jack Fournier and his crew of six clambered from the tug as the list passed the 45 degree mark. Port decks were awash and water was pouring down companionways.

CABLE SNAPPED

Just at that point, when it appeared the boom would pull the tug under, the huge wire tow cable, which had been paying slowly off its drum, reached its end ... and snapped.

The crew climbed back aboard the tug, which now had righted itself—and they started the pumps. Within half an hour Island Tug and Barge Company's Island Ruffler tugged Swiftsure II off the reef.

NEVER TWICE

She picked up her towline and got back into the logging business. She was to be docked today at West Westminster, a company official said, to check her hull for damage.

"If the cable hadn't reached the end of the drum at the right moment, if the cable hadn't snapped—it was all over," said Mr. Wright.

"It couldn't happen twice."

CHILD DROWNS AT PLAY

A 22-month-old boy drowned in Courtenay Sunday when he fell into a tank filled with rain water.

Jose Voloso was rushed to hospital in nearby Comox after attempts at artificial respiration by his father, Jose. He was pronounced dead on arrival.

RCMP said the child was playing on a pile of lumber near his home when he fell into a rectangular container holding about three feet of water.

The boy was the only child of Jose and Nilda Voloso.

Mayor Pushes For New Deal On Cost Split

Premier Bennett's increased per capita grants to municipalities does not eliminate the need for a complete overhaul of federal-provincial-municipal cost sharing formulas.

Mayor Hugh Stephen said he is as pleased as any municipal leader at the increase from $14.50 per capita to $25 per capita in municipal grants.

"But that doesn't change the fact that we still need a complete overhaul of all cost-sharing formulas and the system of grants," he added. "I am not alone in advocating this. The Economic Council of Canada spells the need out quite clearly. It states, and I agree, that an entirely new appraisal is required before we can feel satisfied."

Mayor Stephen also expressed alarm at the possible increase in welfare costs to the municipalities.

"I hate to be critical when we have just been given extra revenue," he said. "But I also hate to be tied to what we know is a rising cost."

30-10 SPLIT

The mayor was referring to the premier's announcement last week that in future welfare payments would be on an 80-20 per cent basis instead of the old 90 per cent provincial, 10 per cent municipal cost-sharing formula.

"The extra 10 per cent we now have to find could become a tremendous load in time," the mayor said. "If the welfare allowances are increased this year and the number of applicants also increases we could be facing a hefty bill."

At the same time the mayor said he could understand the provincial philosophy that municipalities should be given more responsibility.

DOUBLY CAREFUL

"The 10 per cent increase gives us double the responsibility and will presumably make us doubly careful."

City manager Dennis Young agreed that increased welfare costs could hurt the city, but not until 1969.

"With the increase in per capita grants set against the increase in our share of welfare costs there is no doubt that this year the city will come out ahead," he said.

"But there is little doubt in my mind that welfare payments will be increased this year and that the number of people on welfare will grow. By 1969 the 10 per cent increase in welfare costs could well exceed the increase in the per capita grants."

Yeggs Steal $4,000 From Saanich Bakery

Cash Box Located On Inn Lot

Yeggs Saturday night stole over $4,000 in cash and cheques from a Saanich bakery.

The safecracking was discovered just before midnight Saturday at McDonald's Bakery, 524 Cuddehul, by Constable Bob Wray during a routine check of buildings.

The steel safe is located near racks of fresh bread just behind the front office.

FORCED DOOR
The thieves forced a door on the west side of the building to gain entry.

They knocked the dial off the front of the safe and drove the spindle through to the inside, freeing the lock.

Missing are $2,280 in assorted bills, $190.50 in change, and $1,808 in cheques stamped "for deposit only." The cheques were in a grey metal cash box.

FOUND ON LOT

At 2:50 a.m. Sunday, three hours after the theft was discovered, the cash box, several cheques and some change were found three blocks away on the parking lot of the Red Lion Motor Inn.

Police said tools found near the safe were stolen from Clarke Engineering, 3364 Burns Ave., earlier in the evening.

SUNKEN FEELING pervades Prairie visitor Mansell Jones, right, with back to camera, as he watches his 1964 model car being towed from the sea at Ogden Point sport fishermen's ramp today. He had parked in a parking area near top of the ramp while he visited his daughter's home across Dallas Road. Car brakes slipped, car rolled down the ramp narrowly missing two fishermen in boat and disappeared into eight feet of water. It was a sad climax to Mr. Jones' coast visit. But what a story to tell back in Moose Jaw. (Times photo.)

An extensive search may be carried out this summer to determine if there is an underground stream running through North Saanich.

Discovery of such a supply would temporarily solve the municipality's growing need for water—until at least the Greater Victoria water system is extended to the north end of the peninsula, Reeve J. B. Cumming said today.

It would also change the pattern of land use and permit the development of the large dry-belt north of the airport to Lands End.

Interest in the existence of subterranean stream was spurred when Pemberton Holmes Ltd., on behalf of a client, drilled a well 150 feet deep near the intersection of Wains Road and West Saanich Road.

Tests indicated the possibility of an underground stream.

But the results were not conclusive and further tests would have to be carried out, according to Douglas Gage, spokesman for the real estate company.

"The tests proved excellent from the point of view of volume and quality," he said, "but more drilling would have to be carried out in the area to prove the existence of running water."

The search for an underground stream on the north end of the peninsula has been going on for years and has been argued among geologists.

It has been maintained by some experts that all the water from wells comes from precipitation on the land.

Others suspect there is a subterranean stream running along a fault which starts beyond Maple Bay.

Pemberton Holmes Ltd. in collaboration with an engineer of Willis and Cunliffe, consulting engineers, examined this fault with the aid of air photo interpretation. The area in question is a dry zone.

In the preliminary experiments, a water diver was engaged to test the driest parts of the zone.

"It was found that where 'faults' appeared on air photos the diver independently ascertained promising reactions."

The well was drilled where a fault appeared and the results were positive.

EXPERIMENTAL EXCHANGE

It's Educational And They Love It

By DON VIPOND—Times Education Reporter

A big bus rolls from Campbell River to Victoria Thursday to complete the second half of an education experiment on wheels.

Aboard will be about 30 boys and girls, a mixed grade 6 and 7 class from Evergreen elementary school in the up-island community.

Awaiting them at Shelbourne elementary school here will be some new-found friends, the grade 6 and 7 class of teacher Tom Bourne.

These two groups first got together last Thursday when Mr. Bourne's class, each armed with sleeping bags and a hard-earned $10, hit the trail by bus for Campbell River.

There the 30 Victoria youngsters visited the new Indian museum, toured the Elk Falls mill and joined the Evergreen school youngsters for a skate on a lake.

FIRST TIME

For most of the local youngsters, aged 11 and 12, it was the first time they had skated on natural ice, said Mr. Bourne.

Thursday evening they enjoyed volleyball and dancing at the school and toasted hotdogs on a bonfire beside the school.

Then they bedded down in their sleeping bags in the classrooms.

The Evergreen class hosts and their teacher and principal Blair McLean were back at the school at 7:30 a.m. to provide their guests with porridge, toast, jam and hot chocolate.

After touring the John Hart power development on Campbell River Friday all the youngsters headed back for more skating. Then came a little souvenir shopping before the bus headed home for Victoria, pausing to explore a new shopping plaza in Nanaimo on the way.

EDUCATIONAL

Purpose of the visit?

"Travel is educational," says Mr. Bourne simply.

"We look upon this very definitely as a learning experience," adds Shelbourne principal Robert Mainwaring.

To back this up he points out that among the Campbell River students returning the visit Thursday, one out of three has never seen British Columbia's capital before and three out of four have not seen the places they will tour when they are here.

SLEEP IN HALL

Their program will include visits to museums, skating and swimming. Thursday night they will sleep at St. Andrew's Kirk Hall.

Before heading home Friday they will see a plywood mill and a wax museum.

The exchange has extra meaning for the youngsters because they are paying for it themselves.

The Shelbourne class through projects such as candy sales and bottle drives raised the $250 to pay for their bus. And each youngster had almost three months to earn his own $10 spending money.

In a note to parents Mr. Bourne urged that the youngsters work for their money, not just be given it. Parents proved to be enthusiastic about the whole idea.

'... And It Shot Out All Kinds of Sparks'

An unidentified flying object described as "a yellow or amber light, shooting sparks" was seen by students and local residents in the University of Victoria area Sunday night.

Kathy Butler, a classics student at Uvic, said she saw the mysterious light as she was leaving the university library soon after 10 p.m.

Her description of it was similar to those given by residents on Sinclair and Haro roads, near the university.

Miss Butler said she first saw the light over the university women's residence near Haro Road.

INTO FIELD

"It appeared to descend into a field to the right of the residence. It was an amber light and seemed to be shooting out all kinds of sparks."

"This continued for several seconds. Then the light ascended to a fair height and appeared to move over Victoria. It was travelling in an erratic fashion and made no noise at all.

"At one point it paused and let off more sparks—or whatever they were. Then it vanished out of sight."

Two middle-aged women said they saw the object from a driveway on Haro Road about 10:15 p.m. after returning from a concert at the University.

They described it as an amber light giving off bits of unidentified matter.

The two women said they first saw the amber light above the tree tops in the vicinity of Cedar Hill Cross road.

One woman said her husband saw the light from their house.

Dr. Max Edwards of the university faculty said he planned to inspect the "landing site" this afternoon in company with Miss Butler.

Church Swings For 109th

Victoria's oldest Methodist church (now Metropolitan United) wound up its 109th birthday celebrations Sunday by swinging out a syncretized version of the hymn, "O Jesus, I Have Promised to Serve Thee to the End."

The 52-voice choir and a congregation of more than 900 nodded their heads and tapped their feet as they sang; and a band of 55 young musicians from Washington State beat out a lively, brassy accompaniment.

The musicians, comprising the Symphony Band of the University of Puget Sound, came to Victoria to help Metropolitan celebrate its anniversary.

For the rest of the Sunday morning service they accompanied traditional hymn-singing and played two selections of sacred music.

CONCERT

The instrumentalists—aged 18 to 24—were guests of Victoria families and gave a concert of popular classical music before an audience of about 850 in Metropolitan Church Saturday night.

Under their conductor, Robert G. Taylor, they presented a varied program including Suite of Old American Dances, Fantasia in G Minor (Bach), a selection of famous hymns and favorite tunes from the King and I, and The Sound of Music.

The church was founded here on Feb. 10, 1859, as Victoria's first Methodist church. It became Metropolitan United when Methodists, Wesleyans, Presbyterians and Congregationalists formed the United Church of Canada in 1925.

Speakers Named For Deep Cove Pollution Meet

Speakers who will address a Deep Cove public meeting on harbor pollution Tuesday were named by Deep Cove Property Owners Association.

Stated to address the 8 p.m. meeting at the Legion Hall, Mills Cross Road, are Saanich sanitary engineer Frank Neale, public health inspector Daryl G. Anderson, Gordon H. Campbell, unsuccessful Saanich reeveship candidate in 1967 and a representative of University of Victoria biology department, still to be named.

Chairman of the meeting will be Harold Parrott, principal of Belmont High School.

The meeting was called to study a bid by Deep Cove Chautau to pipe sewage effluent into Deep Cove. The chalet's petition is now before the Pollution Control Board.

Want $1,000 Gift From Mr. Bennett? Here Are His Rules

Who can qualify for the proposed $1,000 home acquisition grant?

The provincial government's amendment bill enlarges slightly the qualifications that applied to the original legislation last year.

It adds a special clause for members of the armed forces who have resided at least five years in B.C. before transfer to some other post.

These persons are deemed to qualify as soon as they return to B.C. while in the service or if they return immediately upon discharge.

SAME RULES

Otherwise, the same qualifications are continued:

"An applicant must have resided at least one year in the province;

Must certify that he plans to live in the subsidized premises for at least five years;

And must have received a total of homeowner grants (paid toward taxes) less than the home acquisition grant.

The latter qualification means that some homeowner who has received, say homeowner grants for the past two years totalling $330, can still apply for the home acquisition grant in the amount of $670.

MAJOR CHANGES

The most important changes between last year's legislation and this year's amendment bill are: the increase in the amount of the grant from $500 to $1,000;

And the elimination of the grant for buying an older house.

However, the bill puts a deadline of July 1 for the elimination so that persons who are now in the process or about to buy an older residence before that cutoff date can still obtain the old grant.

The new $1,000 grant is restricted to homes that were under construction Feb. 9—the day the amendment was introduced—or after. And the applicant must be the first occupier of such a home.

Both the old and new grants can be applied to the purchase of "co-operative" or condominium apartments in which ownership rights are divided among the apartment dwellers.

FINAL SAY

The grants are issued by the finance department and Premier Bennett, or his nominees, specifically have the final say on whether a grant will be issued and in what amount for any individual applicant.

And once the grant is issued, the government registers the fact on the property's title in the land registry office, so that the property can't be sold without its approval before the five-year term is up.

Conviction of trying to defraud the government can bring a penalty of up to $500.

Ask The Times

Q. Which is the largest oil company in Canada? H.M.

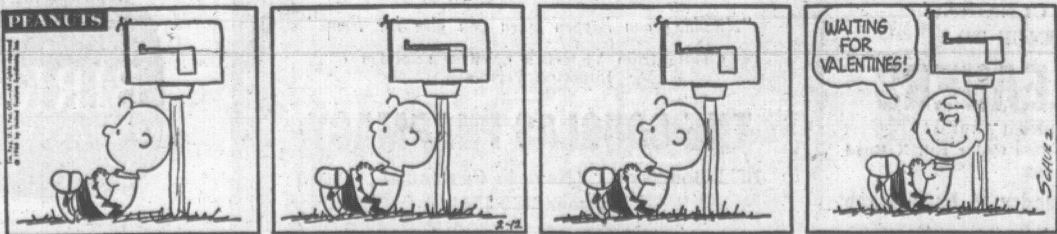

A. Imperial Oil.

Q. My father-in-law lives with us; his only income is the $105 pension he receives; are we entitled to show him as a dependent for income taxes? G.B.

A. A local income tax consultant advises that your father-in-law can be claimed as a dependent only if his annual income is less than $850. If his income is over that amount the government makes what is called a "notch calculation" on his income up to $1,250. It would be cheaper in the long run if you didn't claim him as a dependent, the consultant said.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Mumps Epidemic Adds To Mother's Wardrobe

By Penny Saver

I knew that my neighbor had been busy for the past few weeks. The mumps had hit her family full force and she had had all three of her children in bed. I have a fear of catching the mumps so had limited myself to consoling telephone calls. I managed to weather childhood and an epidemic in my own family without any swelling in my parotid glands and I feel that I am much too old now to spend weeks looking like a chipmunk. When my neighbor said that she had been busy, however, I thought she meant nursing the youngsters. Imagine my surprise when I visited her and she proudly displayed an attractive knitted suit in a vibrant shade of green and declared that she had made it while the children had been sick.

I was even more surprised when I found that the suit was made of pure linen. It had never occurred to me that this fibre could be spun into a thread thick enough to be knitted like wool. I investigated and found that this yarn comes from Scotland. It is $1 a ball and a sweater would take about 12 balls. My neighbor had made a complete suit from it with a dress and jacket but color keyed linen fabric can be ordered for a matching skirt. The colors are all bright and include pinks, navy and the green my neighbor chose. The fabric comes in plain or stripes. It is $12 a yard but it is 60 inches wide so that only the length of the skirt is needed. The material must be ordered in the correct color and length.

This same matching of material and wool can be made with a silk and wool mixture yarn. This yarn is $1.59 a ball and is quite fine, three or four ply at the most. About 10 balls are needed for a sweater.

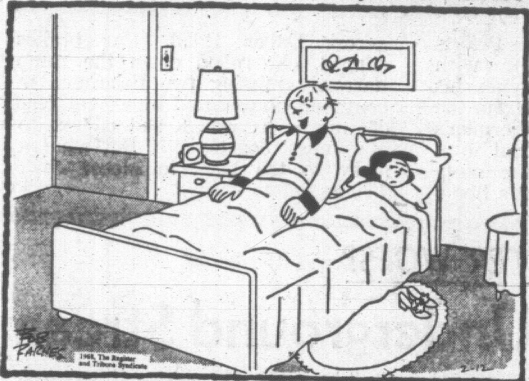

A week or so ago I spoke of the heavy oiled yarn from Scotland. The shop I visited has this wool, both oiled and scoured, and woven skirt material to match. A kit with material for a skirt and enough scoured wool for a sweater is $22.95. The natural cream looks wonderful when made up into a soft heavy cloth and I am sure that a kit made from this wool is lovely.

This shop carried skirt and sweater kits that I have seen many times at $19.95 a kit but I was surprised to find that the skirt material can be bought alone at $10.95 a kit, including the zipper and that these kits can be bought with a dress instead of a skirt. A dress and sweater kit is $20.98—much cheaper than if the two are bought separately and includes matching buttons. The dress material will make up into a size 20 dress if this is needed. The sweater wool includes contrasting colors for a patterned yoke.

Please call me at 382-3131 if you would like to know where this shop is found.

Food Preparation Makes Difference in Calorie Count

Here are a few more tips for readers who are following my Eight Week Beauty Improvement Plan for a loss of from 15 to 20 pounds in eight weeks. As a matter of fact, these will be helpful to all of my readers who wish to lose weight.

Never forget the terrific difference in calorie count the preparation of food can make. Here are some hints.

Cut the fat from your portion of meat. Leave off gravy or rich sauces. You can give these to the rest of the family. If your meat seems dry, substitute beef broth for gravy and season it with herbs, garlic or onion salt.

Remove your portion of vegetables from the pot before seasoning the remainder for the other members of the clan. Use vinegar, lemon juice, chopped parsley or chives or mint, or your favorite herb on vegetables and meats. With beef or chicken broth, or tomato juice as a base, you can concoct a very good sauce for these.

Take advantage of the great variety of low-calorie foods. There are delicious diet-packed fruits. These can add great variety and pleasure to reducing menus. As in the case of all reducing items, the calorie count is usually on the can or package.

There are all sorts of salad dressings; Roquefort, Italian,

French, low-fat mayonnaise, and many others. There are innumerable diet-angled desserts, with which to calm the sweet tooth. Also, you can make your own, substituting non-fat dry, or skim milk for whole milk, and one of the artificial sweeteners for sugar.

Most of you know about the low-calorie beverages and the sugar-free jams and jellies and preserves.

In many stores these slimming foods are in a special location. However, in some instances the reducing dressings are on the same shelf with the regular ones, the low-calorie jams right with the usual ones, and so forth. Therefore, investigate carefully.

If you wish to cook meat without fat or oil, here's a good trick! Simmer it in a sauce consisting of tomato juice, herbs and chopped green pepper.

A small amount of grated cheese gives you few calories and can add a lot in taste when sprinkled lightly on food. For instance, this peps up baked breakfast eggs.

There are many dietetic breads. Gluten bread is high in protein and low in calories. There are also cereals which have these same values. It is well worthwhile taking time to investigate the shelves of your favorite market.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Words of Wisdom For Today's Teens

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our eldest daughter had to get married at 17, after having gone steady with a "very nice" boy for three years, so we made a rule for the younger children—no going steady.

Now we're having trouble with our 16-year-old daughter. She wants to go steady. We said no, she has to have a date with another boy between dates with her special boy friend. She says no one else asks her.

Tell me, Abby, how can parents keep their children from going steady? We know from past experience that it is dangerous, and we don't want any more "hurry-up" marriages in our family. But if the kids don't want to go with anyone else, or if no one else asks them, what can parents do?

DEAR MOTHER: Instead of making rules, if parents would work toward building the kind of relationship with their children that lends itself to straight talk on a sensible, unemotional basis, they would fare better.

Let your children know why too much togetherness puts a strain on two normal young people who have a strong physical attraction for each other. Let them know that this "attraction" is usually equated with "love"—but don't laugh and say it's only "puppy love." Tell them that the only way to reduce temptation is to reduce the time spent together alone.

Tell them that you are aware that when young people think they are "in love," the more they make out, the more difficult it is to control their desires, and they seldom do less when they're together than they did last time. Let them know that you understand and trust them, and recommend not going steady because you want to help them, not punish them. And then, Mother, you will have less to worry about.

DEAR ABBY: This may not seem very important to you, but our dog snores. Even though he sleeps in the kitchen, we can still hear him. It is too cold to put him outside, but he is interfering with my sleep. Any suggestions?

UP NIGHTS IN BOONE, IA. DEAR UP: Dogs, like people, can have a nasal obstruction which causes them to snore, so do yourself (and your pooch) a favor and ask your vet to look into it.

If this doesn't help, try ear plugs (for you), but I wouldn't put out a dog out in an Iowa winter.

DEAR ABBY: My heart goes out to that young woman who said she was the world's worst housekeeper. I was once in her shoes, but now I am one of the best. I think I know what the problem is for most women: They never finish what they start.

Before they're done cleaning, they start ironing. Before they're through ironing, they start to bake. Then, instead of washing up those dishes, they start sewing, and before they finish with that, they go marketing and come home with a lot of stuff to be put away, which only adds to the confusion.

If women would tackle only one job at a time, and finish that job and everything connected with it, they would soon find that housekeeping is not a chore—but a joy.

It is so nice to live in a home that is always in good order.

A New You by Emily Wilkens

This February 14th, lavish a gift of luxury on your favorite valentine—YOU!

Throughout the year—Christmas, birthdays, anniversaries—you give special attention to meaningful gifts for family and friends. Why not take this romantic occasion to treat yourself to something lovely?

Over the centuries, certain adornments that belong to beauty have been the favorites of famous glamorous women—pearls, fragrances and exquisite handies. Which would you choose for that gift to you?

THE GLOW OF PEARLS: The most flattering jewel nature ever "manufactured" is the cultured pearl with its soft, magical gleam that comes from thousands of light rays. Choose pearls in a shade that complements your coloring: Rosy-white for fair-complexioned blondes, creamy-beige for tawny-complexioned redheads and brunettes, or bluish-white to set off grey or white hair.

Always select pearls in a shaded natural light to judge their true coloring. Although you may not be able to afford a yard-long strand of these precious pearls, consider the popular approach of "adding-a-pearl" (or two) each Valentine's Day.

Not only are pearls so beautifully becoming, they are also most practical since they can be worn with anything from a sweater to a formal gown.

Pearls will take care of your accessory problems if you take care of them. Wipe them off occasionally with a soft cloth. Don't just throw them in your jewelry box but keep them safely unscratched in a chamois bag. Never put your pearls on until your makeup is completed. Cosmetics and hair sprays can be ruinous to these delicate products of the sea.

THE AURA OF PERFUME: To be appealingly fragrant is the dream of every woman. Well-meaning but misguided gentlemen often don't know what kind of perfume to buy, therefore the most appropriate choice has to be made by you.

You can (and should) surround yourself in scent. It's completely possible with the splendiferous array of soaps, bath powders, natural sprays, toilet waters, colognes, as well as the actual perfume itself. To further enhance the fascination, consider scented drawer lining paper, perfumed lingerie discs and fragrant room and closet sprays.

Experiment to find the scent that really pleases you. Don't be shy about the wrist test which is the only way to be sure about the selection. Never be swayed by someone else's choice—perfume reacts differently on individuals.

Royal Roads Chapter IODE

LOOKS FOR NEW MEMBERS

Mrs. Brian Behta was installed as a new member of the Royal Roads Chapter IODE by regent Mrs. B. T. Shaw when the chapter held its annual meeting in Holyrood House.

Membership convenor Mrs. C. C. Riach asked the chapter to make a determined effort to increase the membership by five members during the coming year to ensure the effectiveness of their work and continuance of the chapter. Mrs. Riach also reported that there are 25 members at present, including three life members, Mrs. J. C. F. Blowey, Mrs. L. Trahan, and Mrs. M. Zabel. Mrs. W. G. Elder was also installed as a chapter member during the past year.

Miss Helen B. Rattray, educational secretary, reported that the George H. Gardiner Bursary of $150 was awarded to Miss Linda Burkholder, who is a student in the education faculty of the University of Victoria. Mrs. Riach also announced the Miss Colleen De Corte, student of Wynne Shaw's Ballet School, was the recipient of the $100 ballet bursary. The scholarship enabled her to attend a summer course work shop.

It was also reported that the chapter's adopted schools at Kleena Kleena and in Williams Harbor, Labrador, were provided with library books and special centennial gifts valued at $140. Readers' crests were provided for students at the adopted schools who read eight books during the year. Contributions of $162 were made to the municipal, provincial and national educational funds.

Services at home and abroad convenor Mrs. J. C. F. Blowey announced that 56 knitted baby-wear articles, afghans, quilts and used clothing, valued at $173 were distributed during the year. Other disbursements included a food parcel to a veteran in England and two local hampers, $33; 12 health kits for North West Territories; 12 nursery bags, 26 novels for troops in Germany, 23 stuffed animals, total cost, $77. Donations to the national chapter funds of $102 included money for the overseas relief fund, shipping fund, Korean projects and the Korean X-ray fund.

Mrs. Blowey also reported that the chapter had contributed $125 to the municipal IODE centennial project, the shelter at Clover Point. Total services' expenditures for the year were $394.

Treasurer Mrs. Doris E. Leng reported receipts totalling $1,336. These funds were the proceeds of the sale of centennial spoons, two bake sales, a film show, two small auction sales, the sale of cards and novelties and the chapter's share of 1967 Festival proceeds. Disbursements totalling $1,472 were made to national, provincial, municipal and local projects.

Other annual reports were submitted by Mrs. S. K. Hayward, secretary; Mrs. M. I. Angus, Echoes; Mrs. B. Murgatroyd, world affairs; Mrs. M. G. Gourlay, Commonwealth relations; Mrs. Madeline Flowers, citizenship; and Mrs. L. E. Trahan, standard bearer.

Honorary regent Mrs. J. L. Gates and municipal regent Miss Christine MacNab were special guests.

Following the dinner Miss Connie Chow showed slides of past IODE events, and of her tour of England and Ireland.

Miss MacNab conducted the installation of officers.

Mrs. B. T. Shaw was re-elected as regent. Other officers are: First vice-regent, Mrs. S. K. Hayward; second vice-regent, Mrs. David D. Lowe; secretary, Mrs. M. I. Angus; treasurer, Miss A. G. Norell; educational secretary, Miss Helen Rattray; Echoes, Mrs. C. C. Riach; services at home and abroad convenor, Mrs. J. C. F. Blowey, and standard bearer, Mrs. L. E. Trahan.

Convenors are: Mrs. V. H. V. Sheppard, membership; Mrs. C. Hill, citizenship; Mrs. M. Zabel, public relations; Mrs. M. G. Gourlay, Commonwealth relations; Mrs. B. Murgatroyd, world affairs. Councilors are: Mrs. H. J. Brubaker, Mrs. W. H. Outhbertson and Mrs. E. Gordon.

Attend Wedding

Guests travelling to Victoria to attend the Weatherdon-Drysdale wedding included Mrs. J. Inglis, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. G. Gunn of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. D. Pures, all of Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. B. Gilmour of Campbell River; Mr. Will Warmenhoven, and Mrs. J. Hills, all of Port Alberni; Mr. and Mrs. F. Jones of Qualicum Beach; Mr. and Mrs. G. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. R. Brown, Mr. Ted Toffey, all of Nanaimo; Mr. and Mrs. D. Douglas of Comox; Mr. and Mrs. J. Waring of Parksville, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Allan of Courtenay.

Couple Honored

A dinner was held at the Beachcomber restaurant recently in honor of the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Doug George, 3161 Mars Street. Mrs. George was presented with an orchid corsage. The dinner was followed by a social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Porteous where a decorated anniversary cake and coffee were served. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. D. Porteous, Mr. and Mrs. Alex McLeod, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Norm Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Theo Copley and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bennett.

"Man the Provider" was the theme at the recent meeting of the Arbutus Toastmistress Club. The club's newest member, Mrs. F. R. Morris, introduced the topic mistress, Mrs. H. Butt. Mrs. Butt asked members to recall ways in which man provides.

The education chairman, Mrs. G. E. Cook discussed the use of clichés. Mrs. C. M. Dowling, toastmistress for the evening, was introduced by D. E. Pite. A prepared speech entitled "The Challenge" was given by Mrs. H. Winstone. Independent evaluations of this speech were given by Mrs. P. Small, Mrs. W. A. Ludlow and Mrs. S. M. McCulloch. Mrs. R. S. Butt, Mrs. E. R. Ashbridge and Mrs. G. E. Cook judged the evaluations.

A lesson on evaluation was given by Mrs. L. R. Hammett. The president, Mrs. G. H. Love, welcomed a guest at the meeting, Miss Dorothy Cogswell.

The inspiration was given by Mrs. T. A. Hutton. The closing thought was given by Mrs. J. A. Miller, who was also lexicologist. Miss Mary Horan was timer.

General evaluator for the evening was Mrs. A. M. Clarkson. Mrs. H. Butt won the spur for her choice of topic and Mrs. L. R. Hammett won the oscar. Mrs. J. L. Brens gave the vote of thanks.

COOKING CAN BE FUN

Start Out With Good Steak

A lovely girl who shall remain nameless tells me she was afraid to buy a steak for four years after she was married because she did not want to admit to her loving husband that she did not know how to cook it.

Be a pro. Learn to cook steaks properly. It doesn't seem to me to see expensive steaks slapped into frying pans and cooked until they are ruined beyond repair.

Properly cooked steaks should be broiled and moist and pink inside and rich brown outside and salted and peppered if desired.

BUT proper cooking will not restore a poor steak. Expert steak buying comes first. Look for 1) red brand beef, then look for 2) thick steak, then 3) meat marbled with fat; 4) large undercut at one side of T-bone in Porterhouse or upper sirloin steaks. Allow one-half pound per person. Girls and women may eat less. Boys and men may eat more.

BROILED STEAK

Score fat edge with sharp knife to prevent curling. Place on rack on cold broiler pan which has been greased with a little surplus fat. Slide under broiler burner, which, if electric, should have been preheated for 10 minutes. Top surface of steak should be four inches from burner.

Broil until top side is dark golden brown. Turn over and broil second side. If desired sprinkle steak with salt, pepper and garlic salt. To test for doneness make a slit alongside bone. Steak at centre should be a bright pink—for steak continues to cook after it is removed from broiler.

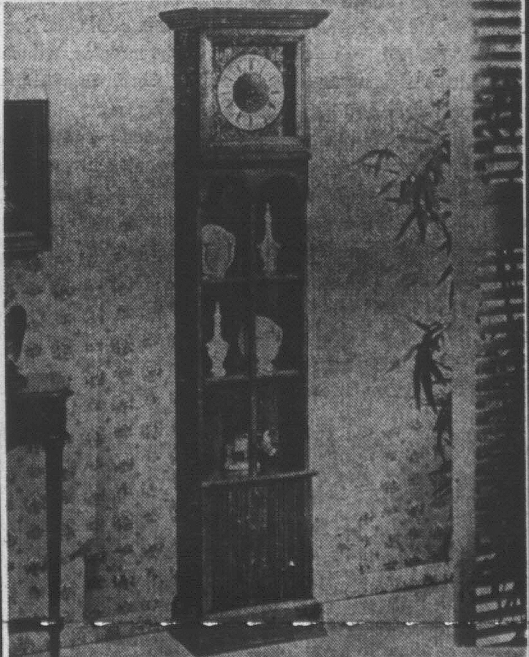

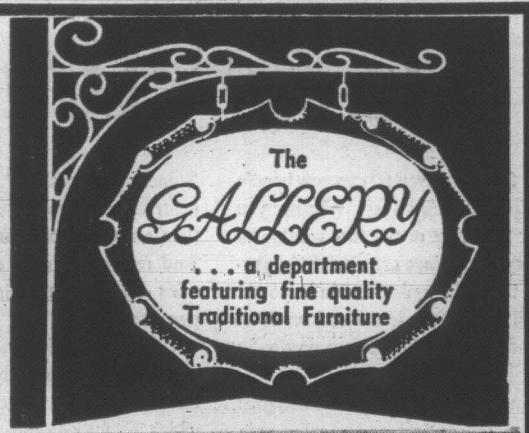

Variations for different thicknesses of steaks: Put room temperature steaks on cold broiler pan. Have meat four inches from burner. Broil a 1" steak: 5 to 7 minutes for "rare"; 7 to 9 minutes for "medium"; 9 to 15 minutes for "well done". Broil a 1 1/2" steak: 9 to 12 minutes for "rare"; 12 to 15 minutes for "medium"; 15 to 22 minutes for "well done."

If desired, when steaks are turned at half-time they may be brushed with butter or French dressing.

UBC Team Wins Junior Sail Regatta

By SHIRLEY HEWETT

Perfect sailing conditions combined with a spirit of camaraderie to produce a highly successful junior Regatta sailed at Esquimalt Harbor this weekend.

A strong University of British Columbia entry topped the six team Collegiate field. Three boat teams sailed a schedule of six races in Unique 420s.

This regatta, which was organized and run by the RCNSA juniors, promises to become an annual affair.

Club seniors Mike Weir, Hardy Lane, Robin Spear, and Mel Steffans gave guidance with safety, protests and boats.

REGATTA RESULTS:
1st—University of British Columbia (624 points).
2nd—RCNSA (594 points).
3rd—Western Washington State College Sailing Club (584 points).
4th—Simon Fraser University Sailing Club (105 points).
5th—Royal Roads Military College (85 points).

Bright sun combined with steady northeast winds Sunday to give dinghy racers one of the best days in Cadboro Bay this year.

Royal Victoria Yacht Club Men's Championships were decided in five races. Officer of the day Shirley Jefferson, assisted by Sybil Lees and Elspeth Kerr, capably set the courses and manned the tower.

FINAL RESULTS BY DIVISIONS:
1st—Ed Biele (4 points).
2nd—Humphrey Goldby (12 points).
3rd—Peter Tomlinson (20 points).
4th—Jim Davis (28 points).

FINAL RESULTS IN EL TOROS:
1st—Norman Marcus (24 points).
2nd—Jack Woodward (32 points).
3rd—Jim Williams (39 points).
4th—Lyle Russell (48 points).

At RCNSA, a 10 race round robin series started last weekend was concluded on Sunday. Sailing to top spot in the Esquimalt El Toro Fleet was junior Greg Hemphill with 21 points. He was followed by Harold Grant with 38 points. Bis Whitby placed fourth with 43 and Tony Sayle fifth with 51 points.

A new series in El Toros starts next Sunday.

'Oak Bay Won't Gain From Hike'

The increase in per capita grants provided in Premier Bennett's budget is no gift for Oak Bay, Acting Reeve Frances Elford said Saturday.

"At first the increase appeared fairly generous but on close examination it is obvious that more than half of the increase will be wiped out by the doubling of the municipal share of welfare costs and the elimination of grants for highways," she said.

She pointed out the net increase to Oak Bay will be less than that received two years ago and it bore no relation to the added responsibilities facing the municipality.

She noted that in the last three months of 1962 welfare costs rapidly increased.

"If this continues throughout 1963, the entire gain to Oak Bay will be wiped out."

"It isn't a satisfactory substitute for a proper study in depth of the whole problem of provincial-municipal financial relations and division of responsibilities," she said. "The municipalities have asked for co-operation for such a study for at least four years."

Student Counselling Subject of Seminar

Student counselling will be the subject of a seminar for school trustees to be held March 9 and 10 at the Empress Hotel.

It will be the first event this year on the B.C. School Trustees' Association's leadership training program.

HOME GARDEN

Adventure Anyone? No Limits

By HILDA BEASTALL

Adventurous gardeners know no limits in what they will attempt to grow.

Some succeed with rooting the tops of a pineapple and growing it into a plant.

Many sow seeds from avocados and dates and raise interesting house plants; last week I was reminded of a ginger plant seen years ago which was raised from a piece of green ginger root.

This is not found often in the local vegetable markets, but a supply appeared a few days ago. The pieces all had good rounded eye growths, the roots themselves looking like small tuberous artichokes.

Root ginger is botanically Zingiber officinalis, a plant native to the islands in the South Pacific and cultivated in the tropics for commercial crops.

WARM SPOT

As a house plant, a piece of green root may be put into a small pot of sandy soil and kept in a really warm spot at 75 to 90 degrees F. on top of a radiator or similar place.

Rooting may take three or four weeks, but do not have the soil too saturated with water.

As soon as a green shoot is seen, move to a light place, still warm, and water carefully as needed.

When the plant seems to be growing well, it can go into a larger pot of rich compost, for it will then be making lots of root growth as well as top growth.

Leaves and stems will have a pungent, spicy odor, and you may even get a flower on your ginger root plant.

District 63 Asks $2 Million For Classrooms

Saanich peninsula ratepayers will vote on a school construction referendum of close to $2 million this summer.

It will incorporate a $554,800 supplementary referendum rejected last December by voters in classrooms and other facilities needed over the next three years. District 63 school board chairman Mrs. Nora Lindsay said today.

She said trustees do not know the total yet but it would be about the same as the 1965 referendum of $1,855,400.

Approval of the school building program is "important and just plain necessary" to meet increased school enrolment, said the chairman.

Trustees have also set an operating budget of $2,700,000 for this year. The budget a year ago was $2,233,742.

"We cut out everything except the absolutely essential," said Mrs. Lindsay. "It's a very lean budget."

Among the small projects it provides for is improved classroom lighting.

The chairman said trustees have met with PTA and teacher groups to see how the school district can best utilize the buildings it has.

"We are certainly looking into all aspects of making the most use of what we have."

Killed 5 in Family

CORDELE, Ga. (AP) — Janie Lou Gibbs has been declared insane after she admitted killing five members of her family with arsenic. Mrs. Gibbs, 35, showed no emotion as the Superior Court jury's verdict was read. A psychiatrist said the plump matron had explained the deaths by speaking of a need "to do something in a compulsive manner which she could not explain."

TOUGH TIME SPENDING THE LOOT

VANCOUVER (CP) — Thieves staged a $30,000 robbery in Vancouver during the weekend, but could have a tough time spending some of the loot.

A half ton of coins were taken from a safe in the office of Continental Coins Ltd.

The 100,000 coins ranged from centennial cents to 19th century $5 gold pieces.

The burglars opened a six-by-four-foot safe by drilling holes in it. They are believed to have carried the coins in bags down a back fire escape to a truck waiting in an alley.

Although some of the money is not legal tender, it has a high value among numismatists.

Wind Batters Island

APIA (AP) — A hurricane with winds of up to 90 miles per hour has devastated the tiny independent state of Western Samoa in the Pacific. A radio report said hundreds of houses were destroyed or damaged and power lines were down throughout the country.

Complexion Beauty

The secret of beautifying the complexion is said to lie in the saturation of the skin with a new type of tropical moist oil. The skin takes on an immediate healthy bloom as the tiny lines and blemishes are gently smoothed away. This saturation treatment with the moist oil of Olay is recommended by skin care consultants, who advise its daily use as a powder base to give the complexion day-long beauty. Your drug-gist will help you obtain a supply for your personal needs.

Local Flyers Pay Own Way For Course

Cancellation by civil defence authorities of an air rescue and survival course hasn't stymied Victoria-region flyers.

Thirty local pilots have plans to hold the course at their own expense, through the Victoria Flying Club.

A club spokesman said Thursday efforts are being made to contact all those who want the training, in an attempt to keep the course going.

Recent air searches involving pilots from Victoria have created an interest in Airforce rescue operations and survival techniques, the spokesman said.

The course, expected to cost from $150 to $200, was originally planned with provincial civil defence support.

But cost-saving measures forced officials to withdraw their backing for the course a week after notices were mailed.

JAMES DEANS

City Postmaster Named

Victoria's new postmaster is a veteran of 30 years in the postal service, more than half of them spent as postmaster in various B.C. centres.

James Deans, 52, has been named to the Victoria post, replacing Allan Davies, who has been posted to London, Ont.

The appointment will not be confirmed until the end of the month, after a standard appeal period.

Mr. Deans was born in Kilwinning, Scotland and educated in Canada. He started with the post office in Trail, B.C. in 1933.

In 1941 he joined the railway mail service and entered the Canadian Postal Corps the following year, serving in Canada and England for the next four years.

After his discharge, Mr. Deans worked in the district office in Vancouver for three years before going to Courtenay as postmaster. He held that post until 1955.

During 1955 and 1956 he was area superintendent in Prince George and then served as postmaster in Nanaimo for three years.

Father Charged

CHILLIWACK (CP) — David Johnny, 60, of Ruby Creek, has been charged with murder in the shooting death Friday of his son, David, 20. He will appear in court Feb. 15.

Since 1959 he had been postmaster at New Westminster.

If Mr. Deans passes the appeal period without another candidate for the Victoria position successfully contesting his appointment, he would probably be moving here in March, he said.

at the very first sign of a wrinkle or line

with new Wunder Veil

Every woman 20, 30, 40 or even 60 can now benefit from this latest European discovery. Whether you are preparing for the onset of the first wrinkle or line, or elementary aging lines are already in progress. A younger, fresher complexion can be yours. New Wunder Veil with I.P.F. is the end result of years of patient research and has proven unusually effective.

Wunder Veil not only helps eliminate those facial lines and wrinkles, crow's feet and sagging skin around the chin and throat, but it also helps protect against the formation of tell-tale lines that mark your years. If you now have a young lovely complexion, Wunder Veil will help you retain and protect your youthfulness, from the onset of lines and wrinkles that appear all too soon.

Now available in Canada, this astonishing new formula in Wunder Veil (with I.P.F.) is deep, deep penetrating, carrying moisturizing agents down to the deepest, thirstiest, dry cells. The penetrating agents in Wunder Veil go to work immediately to satiate these skin cells, helping to stimulate their natural function and restore to you a younger, softer complexion. Just think, a few drops of Wunder Veil with I.P.F., the new moisture concentrate, can give more of what your skin requires than a flood of ordinary skin creams and lotions. And remember, each drop of Wunder Veil contains I.P.F. — the improved penetrating and porosity factor.

Use Wunder Veil with I.P.F. to-night on retiring — smooth this gentle fragrant lotion over your face and throat. You will see a barely visible film appear which instantly disappears as it is thirstily absorbed by your skin. Used last thing at night and first thing in the morning, Wunder Veil promises you a lovelier, clearer complexion. A more beautiful younger looking you.

Wunder Veil is greaseless, delicately fragrant and should be used as an excellent make-up base. Whether your skin is normal, dry or oily, Wunder Veil can be beneficial.

And best of all — every woman can afford to use Wunder Veil. Priced moderately — the 1 oz. trial size, sufficient for 2 or 3 weeks is only $1.50 and the regular, 4 oz. size — only $3.75. Naturally, your complete satisfaction is guaranteed by the manufacturers. Remember, no matter what your age, Wunder Veil can help you — if you are 20, 30, or 40 or 60 you can protect your skin from aging, or you can "turn back the years."

DISTRIBUTED BY HIGGS-DOMINION SALES LTD.
Toronto, Ontario.

The New Penetrating And Porosity Factor of Wunder Veil

This exclusive additive, new to cosmetic science, does not block the pores of the skin with oily residue.

Wunder Veil's beautifying agents actually seek out thirsty cells of your skin — penetrate deep down and act like a catalyst helping the microscopic moisturizing agents to reach the deepest cells and push up the wrinkles and lines from below.

Only Wunder Veil gives you the added porosity factor that allows the continuous exchange of oxygen and carbon dioxide so necessary for a natural healthy complexion. Wunder Veil lets YOU look as young as you feel!

Ottawa Cuts Back On Budget

Within Sharp Forecast

OTTAWA (CP) — The government handed Parliament today an initial spending bill for the new fiscal year totalling a record $11,865,732,032, including old age security payments.

The figure included $10,284,732,032 in the budgetary spending plans of government departments and agencies, an increase of 3.6 per cent over the $9,927,698,631 in the current fiscal year ending March 31.

This increase is sharply smaller than the 12.9-per-cent growth of federal budgetary spending in 1967-68 over the year previous.

Tabling the new spending estimates for 1968-69 in the Commons, Treasury Board President Benson said they are in keeping with Finance Minister Sharp's pledge last November to keep total expenditures in the new year to $10,300,000,000 or 4.5 per cent more than in 1967-68.

While supplementary spending appropriations may bring the maximum spending authority as the year progresses to $10,500,000,000, there is likely to be $200,000,000 of unused appropriations at the end of the year, Mr. Benson said.

In addition to the $11,865,732,032 in basic budgetary estimates for 1968-69, old age security payments are expected to rise to $1,581,000,000 from $1,432,000,000. These are not counted as budgetary expenditures by the government since they are paid out of a separate fund, into which go special income, corporation, and sales taxes.

This year's budgetary and old age security estimates totalled $11,359,698,631.

BIG OUT

Also in addition to the basic estimates are the government's cash requirements for loans and investments in Crown corporations and government agencies, which the government expects to be repaid to the treasury in later years. These are being severely cut in the new year to $484,900,000 from $645,105,609.

Presenting the spending estimates is the first part of the budget-making process. Finance Minister Sharp this spring will table a regular taxing budget, showing how he intends to cover the spending bill.

Mr. Sharp said Nov. 10 that expenditures would be held in 1968-69 to $10,300,000,000, apart from whatever is needed to write off Expo 67 deficits and meet the federal government's share of introducing medical care insurance on July 1, 1968.

General administration and operation of the government calls for $3,952,000 in the new estimates, compared with $3,677,600,000 this year.

Federal government spending on new buildings, works and equipment is being cut to $712,300,000 from $783,200,000. But payment of grants, subsidies and other payments will rise to $5,620,200,000 from $5,305,200,000, 305,200,000.

The latter includes $1,406,849,200 for interest on the public debt and expenses of issuing new loans, an increase of $132,942,800 from this year. It is the largest single item of increase in the new estimates.

BONAVENTURE BOMB PROBE

HALIFAX (CP) — Divers searched the bottom of the Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure for explosives early Saturday after the Federal Bureau of Investigation in San Juan, Puerto Rico, received an anonymous phone call that a bomb had been placed aboard a warship. No bomb was found.

SMOKE COVERS SAIGON as buildings continue to smoulder following Viet Cong raid on residential area last week. New outbreak of fighting was reported on outskirts of the city over weekend.

Marines Make New Bid To Drive Reds From Hue

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese warplanes bombed and strafed North Vietnamese forces holding out in Hue's citadel today after U.S. marine reinforcements were sent into the walled fortress for the first time in the two-week battle.

The combined U.S.-South Vietnamese assaults were part of an all-out effort to drive the North Vietnamese regulars and Viet Cong guerrillas from areas they have held since Jan. 31. The Communists hold the Citadel's southeast corner.

Two companies of marines—about 300 to 400 men—entered the citadel from landing craft sent up the Perfume River Sunday and another two companies of marines were taken to the citadel's northern wall by assault boats today.

The marines have already recaptured the southern part of Hue in a series of street battles. South Vietnamese troops pushed North Vietnamese troops into one corner of the citadel but had been unable to drive them out.

The U.S. marine force in Hue was about 1,000 men. AP correspondent George McArthur reported from Hue that the marines were meeting only occasional sniper fire in the southern part of the city 400 miles north of Saigon.

Lt.-Col. Phan Van Khoa, province chief, mayor of Hue and district military commander, said Communist troops in Hue executed 300 civilians Friday and buried them in a mass grave south of the city. He said the grave was in an area not yet reached by combined U.S.-South Vietnamese forces, but that his reports of the executions were precise and unquestionable.

The victims were province officials, technicians, policemen and others who long had been marked for death by the Viet Cong, he said.

A South Vietnamese civilian reported 125 to 150 Roman Catholics being led from the city as captives Saturday.

Fighting also continued in Saigon and its suburbs for the 13th day. Communiques and field reports said U.S. and South Vietnamese infantrymen, helicopter gunships and fighter-bombers killed 223 Viet Cong in running battles.

AP photographer Joe Hollaway reported that U.S. infantrymen, who had moved into Saigon Friday to speed the mop-up operation, found remnants of a Viet Cong battalion hiding out behind grave mounds in two small cemeteries and near three houses surrounded by rice paddies.

Must Solve Rift Or Park Off to U.S.

SEOUL — South Korean President Chung Hee Park is reported considering a trip to see President Johnson if U.S. presidential envoy Cyrus Vance doesn't resolve the U.S.-South Korean rift over South Korean security.

Vance and Park met for the first time today. Vance's mission is to quiet South Korean fears that the United States is tending toward appeasement in the Pueblo incident and neglecting the increased infiltration of armed North Koreans into the South.

Park and Vance met for three hours today. The U.S. embassy said the talks included a "free, friendly and candid exchange of views," while a spokesman for Park said the meeting was held in a "sincere atmosphere."

Neither side would say whether any progress was made.

In a move welcome to the South Koreans, the U.S. officers who head the United Nations command in Korea asked for a meeting with North Korea to air claims of North Korean truce violations "in and through the demilitarized zone."

WEDNESDAY MEETING

It was indicated that the meeting will be held Wednesday.

A U.S. military spokesman said four North Koreans crossed into South Korea around midnight Sunday, but U.S. sentries repelled them in a brief clash. No casualties were reported.

The U.S. and North Korea have held five secret meetings since the North Koreans seized the U.S. intelligence-gathering ship Pueblo Jan. 23.

No official reports have come out of the talks, but reliable South Korean sources said they believed three injured Pueblo crew members and the body of one sailor who died would be returned soon.

WIRE BRIEFS

Fire 'Deliberate'

SAIGON (Reuters) — The militant faction of the Buddhist church in South Vietnam accused the United States today of taking advantage of the Viet Cong attack on Saigon to fire on and burn the An Quang pagoda, headquarters of the faction.

Quake Recorded

NEW YORK (AP) — A strong earthquake, probably in the China Sea, was recorded at 1:04 a.m. EST today on Fordham University's seismograph, the university reported.

The Seismological Institute in Uppsala, Sweden, said the earthquake appeared to be near New Guinea.

Doctors on Strike

ROME (Reuters) — A three-day strike by hospital doctors hit Italy today as meningitis outbreaks were reported in many cities. The 20,000 doctors demanded payment of their full wages, blocked by the failure of heavily-indebted semi-state health insurance firms to settle their accounts with hospitals.

Boycott by Negroes

ORANGEBURG, S.C. (AP) — Negroes turned to a boycott of white business today as they pressed for civil rights gains and immediate removal of national guard troops from this riot-torn city.

Another Confession

McCARTHY TANGLES WITH WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Eugene J. McCarthy (Dem.-Minn.), target of White House fire in an atomic tangle, said Sunday he would be extremely surprised if the U.S. defence department hadn't considered use of nuclear weapons in the war in Vietnam.

McCarthy, citing Washington rumors, said: "There have been suggestions around the edges that nuclear weapons—tactical weapons—have been recommended, have been considered."

He started to add, "I'm sure they've been in some way—" but stopped and went on: "If they haven't been considered by the Pentagon in some kind of program planning I would be very much surprised."

The senator said the administration's public response that it doesn't plan to use such weapons "tends to relieve me somewhat."

INDIA FEARS FAITH RIOTS

NEW DELHI (AP) — Police in New Delhi and other Indian cities went on the alert today to meet possible Hindu-Muslim violence following the mysterious death of the president of a right-wing Hindu party.

The body of D. D. Upadhyaya, president of the Jan Sangh party since its founding in 1952, was found Sunday on a railway platform at Moghul-sarai, in Uttar Pradesh state, about 200 miles southeast of New Delhi.

Peace Bid Response 'Friendly'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union publicly urged on the Vietnamese Communists to new victories today while Kremlin leaders secretly discussed peace prospects with United Nations Secretary-General U Thant.

After his talks, Thant departed for London to confer with Prime Minister Wilson. Thant had come to Moscow from India where he met with Prime Minister Gandhi, U.S. Ambassador Chester Bowles and a North Vietnamese diplomat.

Britain is co-chairman with the Soviet Union of the Geneva conference which ended the French-Indochina war in 1954. India is chairman of the International Control Commission for Vietnam, Canada and Poland are the other ICC members.

Thant met with Premier Kosygin, Communist party General Secretary Brezhnev and President Podgorny.

The talk with Kosygin was described as friendly. The other talks were not officially described.

SUPPORTS HANOI

Pravda, official organ of the Soviet Communist party, reports Thant's visit without comment but runs a long front-page editorial supporting what it called Hanoi's "clear-cut position... leading to a solution of the Vietnamese problem."

China's official New China news agency said Thant went to India last week "to peddle the U.S. peace talks scheme in collusion with Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi."

The broadcast called Kosygin, Wilson and Yugoslav President Tito "American lackeys who are whipping up a new peace talks campaign."

Thant's London schedule called for a meeting Tuesday morning with Foreign Secretary George Brown and luncheon with Wilson before departing for New York.

Wilson said Sunday he carried President Johnson's San Antonio formula as the road to peace in Vietnam to Kosygin when he visited Moscow Jan. 22-24.

CALLS FOR HALT

Johnson, in a speech in San Antonio, Tex., last September, promised an end to the bombing of North Vietnam when there is assurance from the Communist side that this will lead to prompt, productive peace talks.

North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh said last week the talks can begin as soon as the bombing stops.

'Makes a Farce Of Restraints'

OTTAWA (CP) — The Liberal government stood fast on its medical care insurance program today, prompting a slashing attack by Conservative leader Stanfield, who urged a pullback.

Prime Minister Pearson announced the stand-pat position in the Commons. The national prepaid insurance plan would start on schedule July 1 even though only one or two provinces will join initially.

M.R. Stanfield immediately rose and called the decision to proceed over provincial objections a "grave disappointment" that will do "a grave disservice to Canada."

In his sharpest anti-government attack since he became Conservative leader, Mr. Stanfield said it was folly to proceed with the plan in the light of present economic conditions.

The government should reconsider its decision and work out a medical care program acceptable to the provinces, a program they can proceed with.

He said the decision to proceed following a cabinet review "makes a farce" of the federal policy of economic restraint and a joke of the policies of Finance Minister Sharp.

The decision will "discredit Canada in the eyes of the world," which is afflicted with economic strains. Medical care insurance would only add to them.

He said the program will not provide medical help where it is most needed. The provinces where the need is greatest cannot afford to join the plan.

WILL CAUSE STRAIN

It will badly strain federal-provincial relations because of provincial antagonism to the plan. It will increase Canada's financial difficulties.

Additional cost of the plan would raise the cost of living. Higher unemployment would result.

"The government should be prepared to practice restraint and not simply preach it."

The government was taking the country "nearer and nearer to the precipice over which it would tumble to disaster."

Prime Minister Pearson, announcing the decision today in the Commons, said the implementation of the plan with only two provinces will mean that, in effect, there will be no national plan as originally envisaged.

He expressed the hope that as financial conditions warrant other provinces will join up. He offered to discuss the plan with them in the light of experience after July 1.

Mr. Pearson did not identify the one or two provinces which will be participating.

However, Saskatchewan's plan, now in operation, meets the requirements laid down by the legislation.

And Premier Bennett of British Columbia said last week that if the plan goes ahead July 1 his province will participate.

Health Grants Mean

Surplus for B.C.

Premier Bennett was not available for immediate comment but the federal government's decision to proceed with medicare will assure him of a $6.7 million surplus in the surplus in the budget he announced on Friday.

A total of $18 million is provided for the B.C. Medical Plan in the coming fiscal year beginning April 1.

With the federal government liable to pay half the costs starting July 1, this should result in at least $6 million of federal subsidy which was not calculated in the budget for the 1968-69 year.

Mr. Bennett already has said several times that any necessary legislation to qualify the B.C.M.P. for the national subsidy will be introduced to the government during the current session.

FORMER commissioner of the RCMP, Clifford W. Harvison died today in an Ottawa hospital after a brief illness. He was 65. He retired in 1963 after serving three years in the top post. During his retirement he wrote a book, The Horsemen, an account of his years in the force. See story on Page 13.

Two Offices Of Son Bob Entered

VANCOUVER (CP) — Offices of Highways Minister Gagliardi's son Bob were broken and searched into in Kamloops and Vancouver over the weekend.

The Kamloops office also doubles as headquarters of the Del Cielo Development Co., whose land development project outside Kamloops has caused a controversy in the provincial legislature.

Mr. Gagliardi's sons — Bob and Bill — have been named in the legislature in connection with alleged improprieties in granting highway access to the Del Cielo development.

Bob Gagliardi said today he didn't know whether the double break-in was part of a plot or "could be just co-incidence."

He said other offices near his Vancouver office were also entered.

Only a few stamps were reported missing from the Vancouver office and the minister's son said he didn't know if anything was missing from the Kamloops office.

VANCOUVER STOCKS PAGE 8

PHIL ADMITS SHOP FOREMAN PAINTED SIGNS FOR FIRM

VANCOUVER (CP) — Highways Minister Phil Gagliardi said today that the foreman of his department's Kamloops sign-painting shop painted signs for a firm handling a controversial land development.

But he said the foreman, whom he identified as Frank Methot, apparently painted the signs on his own time, not during his regular department working hours.

The minister made the comments in an interview and during a talk-back radio show. He was referring to a statement Saturday by Don Guild, 17, a former department employee, who said the signs were painted in the department's Kamloops building.

Guild later made a statutory declaration concerning the matter.

"I saw the two signs being painted for Del Cielo Heights in a room behind the sign shop by an employee of the department of highways during his regular working hours," Guild said in his declaration.

He said he was later called out early one morning last August "to assist with the erection of these two signs, one being on a building known to me as the office of Del Cielo Heights and the other facing the Trans-Canada Highway at the junction of the Merritt Highway and the Trans-Canada Highway."

Mr. Gagliardi said of Mr. Methot: "He has worked as a sign painter in my department for quite some time. He does sign painting on the side... from what I gather he was asked to paint these signs. This he did and he was paid for it."

He said he believes Mr. Methot painted the signs on his own time and that if they were erected at 5 a.m. "that must also have been on their own time because nobody in our department shops starts out at 5 o'clock in the morning raising signs."

AT HIGHWAY JUNCTION

The Del Cielo development is on unorganized territory at the junction of the Trans-Canada Highway and the Merritt Highway, just outside Kamloops.

Guild came forward following an hour-long Kamloops television program during which Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi described action he has taken in the Del Cielo land development, which is an unorganized territory at the junction of the Trans-Canada Highway and the Merritt Highway, just outside the city limits.

Alex Macdonald (NDP-Vancouver East) brought the land development to attention by suggesting in the legislature there had been improprieties in granting of highway access to the Del Cielo company.

Gagliardi's son, Bill, has admitted he has an office in the Del Cielo building but has claimed he has nothing to do with the company.

FORD-GM STRUGGLE NOW PERSONAL FEUD

DETROIT (WP)—Competition between General Motors and Ford Motor Company will be more intense than ever because of the rivalry between two men—Semon E. (Bunkie) Knudsen, newly-named president of Ford, and Edward N. Cole, who was chosen over Knudsen three months ago to be the next president of GM.

The unusual defection of Knudsen from an executive vice-presidency at GM to Ford this past week will put the traditional competition between the No. 1 and 2 auto firms on a personal level.

"I'm sure they regard themselves as natural adversaries and this will only heighten the competition," said one auto executive.

Another put it this way: "Knudsen is going to do his damndest to prove that GM made a mistake in picking Cole. This will not be the normal type of competition you see in the industry."

The two were never the best of friends at GM, according to informed auto men who described their relationship as one of "restrained animosity."

U.S. Car Strike Eyed by Union

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—The United Auto Workers Union is prepared to use its international power to strike United States auto firms to put leverage on Canadian subsidiaries, a senior UAW official said Sunday.

Dennis McDermott, the union's Toronto area director, told a labor seminar that if Canadian auto workers encounter problems because they are not permitted by law to strike over grievance during the life of the contract, the union would strike the parent firm in the U.S.

He said that when the UAW struck the General Motors of Canada Ltd. plant at St. Therese, Que., in 1966 in support of wage parity with the Oshawa plant, the union closed U.S. plants that were filling the market normally supplied by St. Therese.

"We cooked up a bunch of grievances and we closed the plant down," said Mr. McDermott, who is slated to assume the UAW's top spot in Canada. "Then we went back to St. Therese and said 'How do you like these apples?' They settled the strike in a week."

Mr. McDermott also told of a letter sent to the Chrysler Corp. in Detroit by the international union warning the company the union would not tolerate a situation in which Chrysler Canada took advantage of its workers because they did not have the legal right to strike during the life of their contract.

In the United States, the union has the right to strike at any time over certain grievances—such as disputes over work standards—that are considered non-arbitrable.

The letter, signed by Douglas Fraser, director of UAW's Chrysler department, said the international union would take all necessary steps and commit its full resources to assist Canadian workers so they are not at a disadvantage because they do not have the right to strike on non-arbitrable grievances.

The letter said the union would also call on all its locals in the United States to lend assistance to the Canadian workers.

Income Tax Tips

By P. J. KELLY

Dept. of National Revenue

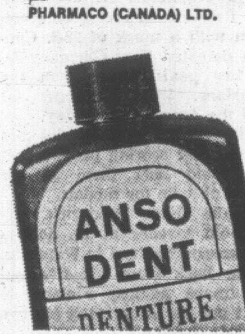

Q. What is the most common type of improperly completed return?

A. Those that do not provide all the information required by the form. Over 10 per cent of returns filed lack necessary information, mainly concerning personal exemptions claimed. Failure to attach T4 slips is very common. Omission rather than actual errors are our greatest problem.

Q. My employment is such that I earn a portion of my income in the form of tips and gratuities. I understand that I may pay additional Canada Pension Plan contributions on this income so that I may qualify for full pension benefits. Is this correct and if so, how may I make the additional payment?

A. Yes, you may elect to pay 3.8 per cent on this income provided you have not already made the maximum contribution of $79.20 on your other wages. To make such an election you must file on a T1 general form and complete the "Canada Pension Plan contribution on self-employed earnings" area on Page 1 of the T1 general.

OTTAWA OBSERVERS SAY:

Viet Peace Best Medicine For Economic Ills in U.S.

By DENNIS ORCHARD

OTTAWA (CP)—It is stretching a point to blame the Vietnam war for all of North America's financial ills, but it is almost axiomatic that peace would provide a magnificent cure.

Expert sources here say peace would quickly correct the United States balance-of-payments deficit, subject of new government measures that triggered an attack last month on the Canadian dollar.

Peace would ease pressure on capital markets, where the urgent claims of governments are being met only at extremely high rates of interest.

Finally, peace would take the heat out of the U.S. economy, forcing major adjustments to prevent an economic slump but certainly reducing pressures of inflation.

Because of heavy long-term investments and military spending abroad, Americans can balance their financial settlements with the rest of the world only by selling gold and by borrowing dollars through the short-term investments of foreign business, banks, and governments.

The U.S. has been piling up these short-term debts through chronic balance-of-payment deficits, with increasing concern about the willingness of foreigners to keep lending.

COULD CAUSE DAMAGE
If the supply should fall short of the demand, the U.S. can obtain funds by pulling in its investments and aid, but only with great potential damage to countries like Canada.

Canada uses $1,000,000,000 or more a year of U.S. investment to cover its own current-account payments deficit, and even a hint that the well is drying up can provoke an attack on the Canadian dollar.

The January balance-of-payments corrections, although they concentrate on Europe and largely spare Canada, were enough to bring on just such an assault.

SHARP
... peace and prosperity

Speculators gambled that Canada would devalue its currency, and it took a public statement by the U.S. administration to make counter-measures work.

One of the factors in that crisis and in the Canada-U.S. financial relationship generally has been the inseparable play of their capital markets.

The Bank of Canada was obliged to raise its bank rate to seven per cent from six per cent Jan. 21 to stem loss of funds; but even in normal periods generally higher interest rates across the board are necessary to attract capital from the U.S.

CITES VIETNAM WAR
This means that Canada must follow U.S. credit patterns, and Finance Minister Sharp has without hesitation blamed the Vietnam war for much of the current pressure on the market.

The U.S. government is spending $25,000,000,000 a year on the war, an obvious reason for its $12,500,000,000 deficit in the calendar year 1967.

A deficit of about the same proportions is predicted for 1968 unless Congress approves a 1½-per-cent surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes.

The administration has long been pleading for the surcharge, which would cut the deficit by $8,000,000,000 and syphon off excessive private demand in the economy.

President Johnson, in his annual economic report last week, said that without a tax increase the U.S. faces "a feverish boom that could generate an unacceptable acceleration of price increases, a possible financial crisis, and perhaps ultimately a recession."

That could only mean a dose of the same for Canada, which faithfully mirrors the general trends of the U.S. economy.

Economists say Canada passed in 1966 through the "demand-pull" inflation now threatening the U.S. and has entered a "cost-push" inflation, with pressures off but prices still rising.

FEEDING STATION has developed along new retaining wall on Gorge, near Craigflower Park. Swans respond to tidbits in ever-increasing numbers. Often 16 are in sight at one time since Capital District Improvement project made shore such a pleasant place to wander. Saanich crews plan to beautify Gorge between Admirals and Gorgeview if province votes more funds, but water pollution is still an unsolved problem. All parking bays were filled early today even though only one person was in park. Local residents suspect country dwellers leave their cars there and double up for rest of the journey to work, picking them up again in late afternoon.

Lady Luck Rewrote Ending Of Sea Drama

The sea caught a tugboat off Oak Bay Sunday then threw it back like an undersized gristle.

But for a few moments the skipper and crew of the Mainland tug Swiftsure II who had abandoned her, believed she was going down in the deep waters off Mowat Reef, at Trial Island.

The one-in-a-million story was told here today by marina operator Bob Wright who had a hand in the adventure.

He said that early Sunday afternoon the tug was towing a boom of logs through the channel separating Trial Island from Oak Bay golf course.

Seas were calm, there was an ebbing tide; it was the kind of a day mariners take coffee to the wheelhouse and nobody's looking for trouble.

But suddenly Swiftsure II caught up on a corner of the reef and hung there while the boom swept by her, carried by the tide.

The boom travelled so quickly the tow cable soon snapped taut and started pulling the tug over on her side.

Some shore watcher called Oak Bay police who called Oak Bay Marina and Mr. Wright got out to the reef in a motorboat. Tug skipper Jack Fournier and his crew of six clambered from the tug as the list passed the 45 degree mark. Port decks were awash and water was pouring down companionways.

CABLE SNAPPED

Just at that point, when it appeared the boom would pull the tug under, the huge wire tow cable, which had been paying slowly off its drum, reached its end ... and snapped.

The crew climbed back aboard the tug, which now had righted itself—and they started the pumps. Within half an hour Island Tug and Barge Company's Island-Rustler tugged Swiftsure II off the reef.

NEVER TWICE

She picked up her towline and got back into the logging business. She was to be docked today at New Westminster, a company official said, to check her hull for damage.

"If the cable hadn't reached the end of the drum at the right moment, if the cable hadn't snapped—it was all over," said Mr. Wright.

"It couldn't happen twice."

'... And It Shot Out All Kinds of Sparks'

An unidentified Flying Object, described as "a yellow or amber light, shooting sparks" was seen by students and local residents in the University of Victoria area Sunday night.

Kathy Butler, a classics student at Uvic, said she saw the mysterious light as she was leaving the university library soon after 10 p.m.

Her description of it was similar to those given by residents on Sinclair and Haro roads, near the university.

Miss Butler said she first saw the light over the university women's residence near Haro Road.

INTO FIELD

"It appeared to descend into a field to the right of the residence. It was an amber light and seemed to be shooting out all kinds of sparks."

EXPERIMENTAL EXCHANGE

It's Educational And They Love It

By DON VIVOND—Times Education Reporter

A big bus rolls from Campbell River to Victoria Thursday to complete the second half of an education experiment on wheels.

Aboard will be about 30 boys and girls, a mixed grade 6 and 7 class from Evergreen elementary school in the up-island community.

Awaiting them at Shelbourne elementary school here will be some new-found friends, the grade 6 and 7 class of teacher Tom Bourne.

These two groups first got together last Thursday when Mr. Bourne's class, each armed with sleeping bags and a hard-earned $10, hit the trail by bus for Campbell River.

There the 30 Victoria youngsters visited the new Indian museum, toured the Elk Falls mill and joined the Evergreen school youngsters for a skate on a lake.

FIRST TIME

For most of the local youngsters, aged 11 and 12, it was the first time they had skated on natural ice, said Mr. Bourne.

Thursday evening they enjoyed volleyball and dancing at the school and toasted hotdogs on a bonfire beside the school.

Then they bedded down in their sleeping bags in the classrooms. The Evergreen class hosts and their teacher and principal Blair McLean were back at the school at 7:30 a.m. to provide their guests with porridge, toast, jam and hot chocolate.

After touring the John Hart power development on Campbell River Friday all the youngsters headed back for more skating. Then came a little souvenir shopping before the bus headed home for Victoria, pausing to explore a new shopping plaza in Nanaimo on the way.

EDUCATIONAL Purpose of the visit?

"Travel is educational," says Mr. Bourne simply. "We look upon this very definitely as a learning experience," adds Shelbourne principal Robert Mainwaring.

To back this up he points out that among the Campbell River students returning the visit Thursday, one out of three has never seen British Columbia's capital before and three out of four have not seen the places they will tour when they are here.

SLEEP IN HALL Their program will include visits to museums, skating and swimming. Thursday night they will sleep at St. Andrew's Kirk Hall.

Before heading home Friday they will see a plywood mill and a wax museum.

The exchange has extra meaning for the youngsters because they are paying for it themselves.

The Shelbourne class through projects such as candy sales and bottle drives raised the $250 to pay for their bus. And each youngster had almost three months to earn his own $10 spending money.

In a note to parents Mr. Bourne urged that the youngsters work for their money, not just be given it. Parents proved to be enthusiastic about the whole idea.

One woman said her husband saw the light from their house.

Dr. Max Edwards of the university faculty said he planned to inspect the "landing site" this afternoon in company with Miss Butler.

CHILD DROWNS AT PLAY

A 23-month-old boy drowned in Courtney Sunday when he fell into a tank filled with rain water.

Jose Voloso was rushed to hospital in nearby Comox after attempts at artificial respiration by his father, Jose. He was pronounced dead on arrival.

RCMP said the child was playing on a pile of lumber near his home when he fell into a rectangular container holding about three feet of water.

The boy was the only child of Jose and Nilda Voloso.

Mayor Pushes For New Deal On Cost Split

Premier Bennett's increased per capita grants to municipalities does not eliminate the need for a complete overhaul of federal-provincial-municipal cost sharing formulas.

Mayor Hugh Stephen said he is as pleased as any municipal leader at the increase from $14.50 per capita to $25 per capita in municipal grants.

"But that doesn't change the fact that we still need a complete overhaul of all cost-sharing formulas and the system of grants," he added. "I am not alone in advocating this. The Economic Council of Canada spells the need out quite clearly. It states, and I agree, that an entirely new appraisal is required before we can feel satisfied."

Mayor Stephen also expressed alarm at the possible increase in welfare costs to the municipalities.

"I hate to be critical when we have just been given extra revenue," he said. "But I also hate to be tied to what we know is a rising cost."

80-10 SPLIT

The mayor was referring to the premier's announcement last week that in future welfare payments would be on an 80-20 per cent basis instead of the old 90 per cent provincial, 10 per cent municipal cost-sharing formula.

"The extra 10 per cent we now have to find could become a tremendous load in time," the mayor said. "If the welfare allowances are increased this year and the number of applicants also increases we could be facing a hefty bill."

At the same time the mayor said he could understand the provincial philosophy that municipalities should be given more responsibility.

"If we had no economic responsibility we might be careless with expenditures."

DOUBLY CAREFUL

"The 10 per cent increase gives us double the responsibility and will presumably make us doubly careful."

City manager Dennis Young agreed that increased welfare costs could hurt the city, but not until 1969.

"With the increase in per capita grants set against the increase in our share of welfare costs there is no doubt that this year the city will come out ahead," he said.

"But there is little doubt in my mind that welfare payments will be increased this year and that the number of people on welfare will grow. By 1969 the 10 per cent increase in welfare costs could well exceed the increase in the per capita grants."

Yeggs Steal $4,000 From Saanich Bakery

Cash Box Located On Inn Lot

Yeggs Saturday night stole over $4,000 in cash and cheques from a Saanich bakery.

The safecracking was discovered just before midnight Saturday at McDonald's Bakery, 524 Cuddehul, by Constable Bob Wray during a routine check of buildings.

The steel safe is located near racks of fresh bread just behind the front office.

FORCED DOOR

The thieves forced a door on the west side of the building to gain entry.

They knocked the dial off the front of the safe and drove the spindle through to the inside, freeing the lock.

Missing are $2,280 in assorted bills, $190.50 in change, and $1,808 in cheques stamped "for deposit only." The cheques were in a grey metal cash box.

FOUND ON LOT

At 2:50 a.m. Sunday, three hours after the theft was discovered, the cash box, several cheques and some change were found three blocks away on the parking lot of the Red Lion Motor Inn.

Police said tools found near the safe were stolen from Clarke Engineering, 3364 Burns Ave., earlier in the evening.

SUNKEN FEELING pervades Prairie visitor Mansell Jones, centre with back to camera, as he watches his 1964 model car being towed from the sea at Ogden Point sport fishermen's ramp today. He had parked in a parking area near top of the ramp while he visited his daughter's home across Dallas Road. Car brakes slipped, car rolled down the ramp narrowly missing two fishermen in boat and disappeared into eight feet of water. It was a sad climax to Mr. Jones' coast visit. But what a story to tell back in Moose Jaw. (Times photo.)

ANSWER TO NORTH SAANICH WATER WOES?

Search Considered for Underground Stream

By HUMPHRY DAVY

An extensive search may be carried out this summer to determine if there is an underground stream running through North Saanich.

Discovery of such a supply would temporarily solve the municipality's growing need for water—until at least the Greater Victoria water system is extended to the north end of the peninsula, Reeve J. B. Cumming said today.

It would also change the pattern of land use and permit the development of the large dry-belt north of the airport to Lands End.

Interest in the existence of subterranean stream was spurred when Pemberton Holmes Ltd., on behalf of a client, drilled a well 150 feet deep near the intersection of Wains Road and West Saanich Road.

Tests indicated the possibility of an underground stream.

But the results were not conclusive and further tests would have to be carried out, according to Douglas Gage, spokesman for the real estate company.

"The tests proved excellent from the point of view of volume and quality," he said, "but more drilling would have to be carried out in the area to prove the existence of running water."

The search for an underground stream on the north end of the peninsula has been going on for years and has been argued among geologists.

It has been maintained by some experts that all the water from wells comes from precipitation on the land.

Others suspect there is a subterranean stream running along a fault which starts beyond Maple Bay.

Pemberton Holmes Ltd. in collaboration with an engineer of Willis and Cunliffe, consulting engineers, examined this fault with the aid of air photo interpretation. The area in question is a dry zone.

In the preliminary experiments, a water diviner was engaged to test the driest parts of the zone.

It was found that where "faults" appeared on air photos the diviner immediately ascertained promising reactions.

Church Swings For 109th

Victoria's oldest Methodist church (now Metropolitan United) wound up its 109th birthday celebrations Sunday by swinging out a syncretized version of the hymn, "O Jesus, I Have Promised to Serve Thee to the End."

The 52-voice choir and a congregation of more than 900 nodded their heads and tapped their feet as they sang; and a band of 55 young musicians from Washington State beat out a lively, brassy accompaniment.

The musicians, comprising the Symphony Band of the University of Puget Sound, came to Victoria to help Metropolitan celebrate its anniversary.

For the rest of the Sunday morning service they accompanied traditional hymn-singing and played two selections of sacred music.

CONCERT

The instrumentalists—aged 18 to 24—were guests of Victoria families and gave a concert of popular classical music before an audience of about 850 in Metropolitan Church Saturday night.

Under their conductor, Robert C. Taylor, they presented a varied program including Suite of Old American Dances, Fantasia in G Minor (Bach), a selection of famous hymns and favorite tunes from the King and I and The Sound of Music.

The church was founded here on Feb. 10, 1859, as Victoria's first Methodist church. It became Metropolitan United when Methodists, Wesleyans, Presbyterians and Congregationalists formed the United Church of Canada in 1925.

Speakers Named For Deep Cove Pollution Meet

Speakers who will address a Deep Cove public meeting on harbor pollution Tuesday were named by Deep Cove Property Owners Association.

Slated to address the 8 p.m. meeting at the Legion Hall, Mills Cross Road, are Saanich sanitary engineer Frank Neate, public health inspector Daryl G. Anderson, Gordon H. Campbell, unsuccessful Saanich reeve candidate in 1967 and a representative of University of Victoria biology department, still to be named.

Chairman of the meeting will be Harold Parrott, principal of Belmont High School.

The meeting was called to study a bid by Deep Cove Chalet to pipe sewage effluent into Deep Cove. The chalet's petition is now before the Pollution Control Board.

Want $1,000 Gift From Mr. Bennett? Here Are His Rules

Who can qualify for the proposed $1,000 home acquisition grant?

The provincial government's amendment bill enlarges slightly the qualifications that applied to the original legislation last year.

It adds a special clause for members of the armed forces who have resided at least five years in B.C. before transfer to some other post.

These persons are deemed to qualify as soon as they return to B.C. while in the service or if they return immediately upon discharge.

SAME RULES

Other wise, the same qualifications are continued: An applicant must have resided at least one year in the province.

Must certify that he plans to live in the subsidized premises for at least five years.

And must have received a total of homeowner grants (paid toward taxes) less than the home acquisition grant.

The latter qualification means that some homeowner who has received, say homeowner grants for the past two years totalling $330, can still apply for the home acquisition grant in the amount of $670.

MAJOR CHANGES

The most important changes between last year's legislation and this year's amendment bill are: the increase in the amount of the grant from $500 to $1,000.

And the elimination of the grant for buying an older house. However, the bill puts a deadline of July 1 for the elimination so that persons who are now in the process or about to buy an older residence before that cutoff date can still obtain the old grant.

The new $1,000 grant is restricted to homes that were under construction Feb. 9—the day the amendment was introduced—or after. And the applicant must be the first occupier of such a home.

Both the old and new grants

FINAL SAY

The grants are issued by the finance department and Premier Bennett, or his nominees, specifically have the final say on whether a grant will be issued and in what amount for any individual applicant.

And once the grant is issued, the government registers the fact on the property's title in the land registry office, so that the property can't be sold without its approval before the five-year term is up.

Conviction of trying to defraud the government can bring a penalty of up to $500.

Ask The Times

Q. Which is the largest oil company in Canada? H.M.

A. Imperial Oil.

Q. My father-in-law lives with us; his only income is the $105 pension he receives—are we entitled to show him as a dependent for income taxes? G.B.

A. A local income tax consultant advises that your father-in-law can be claimed as a dependent only if his annual income is less than $950. If his income is over that amount the government makes what is called a "notch calculation" on his income up to $1,250. It would be cheaper in the long run if you didn't claim him as a dependent, the consultant said.
